Of Palm Springs, California

Rodeo

Full program and pictures of the big Rodeo, which will be held at the Field Club tomorrow and Sunday, appear on the first page of the second section of this issue of The Desert Sun.

Sun Spots

(By Carl Barkow)

If we don't want all the tax burden to again fall on homes and other real estate in California, we had better heed the warning voiced by Governor Merriam in his speech before the Palm Springs Lions Club yesterday. Certain interests in the state are attempting to repeal the state sales tax and replace it with the single tax.

We predict that the desert museum, in the Plaza, will soon be one of the most popular and interesting spots in Palm Springs. Visitors come here to find out more about the desert, and in this museum they will have an opportunity to get first hand information from the director, Don Admiral, desert naturalist. Mr. Admiral also conducts classes in desert fauna, flora and geology, for the University of California extension bureau. Those who have attended the sessions the past few seasons declare they learned more desert history there than they could have obtained from any other source.

Those of you who want to see the matter of incorporation come to a vote, have only until February 7 to sign the incorporation petition. Whether one favors incorporation or not, he should be willing to let it come to a vote and thus let the majority decide at the polls. However, so far we have heard of no organized opposition, and every one we have heard seems to be in favor. If you want to sign the petition, phone John Sprague, 4524, and the committee will call on you.

Watch your step! There is to be no more double parking in the town area on Palm Canyon Drive. State Traffic Officer Tyson is on hand each day patrolling the two blocks from the police station to the Plaza, to make sure that motorists obey the law. If you want to save a few dollars and avoid a trip to Banning to talk with Judge Fredricks, obey the law.

Decision by the fire commission to permit the fire department to go onto the Indian reservation probably prevented a major conflagration this week. The fire which started in the Indian Paint Store might have burned most of the buildings in a large area but for the quick work of the fire department and the cooperation of the police department.

Ed Ainsworth took a crack at Palm Springs in his column in the Los Angeles Times this week. The next time he comes to Palm Springs we would like to have him visit our art galleries, the museum in the Plaza, our interesting palm-covered canyons, and some of our other really fine attractions.

We'll meet you at the rodeo tomorrow and Sunday.

President's Ball At Racquet Club Tomorrow Night

Foremost social event of the season will be President Roosevelt's Birthday Ball at the Racquet Club tomorrow (Saturday) evening, when Hollywood motion picture stars and prominent Eastern visitors will dine and dance with Palm Springs residents. Tickets are $5.00 per plate, and there is a possibility that those who do not wish to have dinner may be admitted at $2.50 per person after the dinner. Chairman Frank V. Shannon, in charge of the affair, made this announcement yesterday noon at the Lions Club meeting.

Seventy per cent of the net proceeds will be turned over to the Friendly Aid Committee of the Chamber of Commerce for local relief purposes, and 30 per cent will go to the Georgia Foundation to combat infantile paralysis throughout the nation.

The President's Ball will be given in place of the weekly entertainment given every Friday night during the season. Charles Farrell assures one and all that there will be plenty of fun and a gala time for those present. Come early and stay late for Nicodemus and his colored orchestra have been engaged. Likewise the El Mirador group will furnish their usual novel entertainment.

Jean Kellar, who delighted the guests last week has been again secured for this occasion. While Jean is comparatively new to the coast, she is well known at clubs throughout the East—the Stork Club in New York, other clubs in Chicago, Detroit and Philadelphia.

Wayne Shelton of the Del Tahquitz joins the program and impromptu entertainment will be added by many stars of the theatre, screen and radio. Mr. Farrell assisting, the ball promises to be a long remembered event and should last until the wee sma' hours of the morning.

The tent outside has been erected and there is an indication the guest list will include at least 150 or 200 people.

Annual Flower Sale for Blind Tomorrow

The annual flower sale will be held in Palm Springs tomorrow (Saturday) Jan. 29th, to benefit the American Brotherhood for the Blind.

The following are the flower sale sponsors: Miss Katherine Finch, Mrs. B. G. Bridgeman, Mrs. Harry Brott, Miss Florence Newberry, Miss Era Franklin.

The American Brotherhood is a national organization devoted solely to the service of the sightless. The endeavor is to relieve the terrible handicap of blindness and to bring light and cheer into the dark and isolated world in which the blind are compelled to live.

The work was founded in 1919 to provide free Braille reading matter for the blind.

The "All Story Braille Magazine" is published by the Brotherhood and it is the only all-fiction periodical for the adult blind in America, reproducing in Braille selected stories from the best popular magazines. The monthly is sent free to the blind and is circulated widely in every state.

The work is non-sectarian and all services as well as publications are available free to the blind of America. The flowers on sale here tomorrow (Saturday) are artificial rose buds made by the blind. They will be sold for voluntary gifts. Headquarters for the flower sale will be in the lobby of the Central Hotel.

DAILY MATINEES

From now until the end of the season there will be a matinee every afternoon at both the Plaza and the Palm Springs Theatres. Matinees begin at 2:30.

THREE FAMOUS MEN NOW WITH US AGAIN

This is how Amos 'n' Andy look as they broadcast from the tower at El Mirador Hotel. For the past three years, Charles Correll (left), "Andy," and Freeman Gosden (right), "Amos," have broadcast from Palm Springs by a leased wire to Chicago, and are again broadcasting daily, at 4 and 7 each day, from El Mirador tower. This popular radio team does not permit an audience, and this is one of the few pictures taken of them when they are on the air. They say it destroys the illusion. — Frank Bogert Photo.

The courteous gentleman, Bill Hay, who speaks perfect English with a perfect radio voice, is also here with Amos 'n' Andy.

Tramway Up Mt. San Jacinto Gets Boost

More and more, practical business men and engineers see the wisdom of constructing a funicular road from Palm Springs to Mt. San Jacinto, so that winter residents of the desert may have an opportunity to enjoy winter sports at Round Valley, which lies far up "California's Fujiyama" at an elevation of 8500 feet.

Joseph Strauss, the engineer who built San Francisco's Golden Gate Bridge and 500 other bridges, recently said the tramway up the precipitous slope of Mt. San Jacinto is not only feasible, but would undoubtedly net a handsome profit to the group financing the plan. Mr. Strauss discussed the matter with Francis Crocker, who first proposed the tramway, and with the editor of The Desert Sun.

Now comes one of the most successful business men of Southern California, George M. Wills, general superintendent of the Nevada-California Electric Corporation, with a very interesting report. He recently returned from Lake Tahoe, where a two-mile tramway is to be built to take winter sports lovers to a mountain top. Following is his letter to Mr. Crocker:

Riverside, Calif.,
January 19, 1938.

Mr. F. F. Crocker
Local Agent
The Nev-Calif. Electric Corporation,
Palm Springs, California.

Desert Museum Opens in Plaza Next Tuesday

The Palm Springs Desert Museum, sponsored by the Palm Springs Associates, will open its doors in the Plaza as a community project Tuesday morning, February 1st. Don Admiral, noted naturalist, lecturer and author, will present a series of free illustrated talks. The first of these, Tuesday morning, at 11 a. m., will be on "Ancient Indians," with subsequent talks presented each Tuesday and Friday at that time. The lecture next Friday will cover "Desert Plants."

Mr. Admiral, a graduate of the University of Chicago and a member of the National History department of the University of California Extension Division, has been making an intensive study of the Palm Springs region for the last six years, and has published two books on its natural history.

He has made expeditions into Baja California with Dr. Liberty Hyde Bailey of Cornell University, as well as covering the high Sierras the length of California, Nevada, the Cascade mountains of Oregon, the Modoc

Desert Study Course Starts Next Monday

A course in "Natural History of the Desert" will be again offered by the University of California Extension Division, to start Monday evening, February 7th, 8 o'clock, at the Grammar school. Don Admiral will serve as instructor.

The course will include a history of the desert study of flora, fauna, geology, and ancient Indians. Special emphasis will be placed on the methods of identifying flowers.

This work will be carried on in the field and in the laboratory, with lectures each Monday evening and field trips and laboratory work hours to be arranged.

Aurora Borealis Seen Here

While Palm Springs is a semi-tropical desert resort, nevertheless, what some have termed the aurora borealis was visible here last Saturday morning between the hours of 3 and 4 o'clock.

It appeared in the sky, to the north and east, and seemed like a veritable curtain of rosy ether interspersed with several shafts of luminous white lights descending vertically into the earth. A faint, rosy glow still remained in the sky at 4:05 a. m. Indescribably beautiful, it inspired a feeling of reverence and awe.

Scientists at Mt. Wilson have claimed that the phenomenon is the result of spots on the sun which at the present time are showering the earth with electricity, causing severe electrical storms throughout the United States.

In some areas, long-distance telephone and telegraphic communications were so garbled as to be unintelligible.

Desert Forum To Present Dancers Wednesday Night

Wednesday, February 9 the Desert Forum will present the Pearl Wheeler dancers at the Plaza Theatre at 8:30 p. m.

The Forum feels very fortunate in securing this fine dance group to replace Sir Norman Angel for its third event of the season.

The costumed dancers will give a program of East Indian, Javanese and Natch dances under the direction of Mrs. Pearl Wheeler, who for 18 years was associated with Ruth St. Denis.

Palm Springs Man Enters Turkish Harem: Sheik Takes Shot at Him

Before the days of Mustapha Kemal's rule, it was an unpardonable sin for any man to lay eyes upon the ladies of another man's harem, and he could be shot without mercy by the husband.

But Allan Wells, Palm Springs resident, did that very thing, and he narrowly escaped death when the sheik of Allah Dah (the Mountain of God) took a shot at him as Wells was fleeing from the harem, which he had entered unintentionally and purely by mistake.

For this Allan Wells received a $50 cash prize from Floyd Gibbons' Adventurers' Club.

Floyd Gibbons, world-famous foreign correspondent, told about it in the Sunday issue of the Washington Herald, January 27, 1935. There is no mention of a copyright on the reprint of the article furnished The Desert Sun by a friend of Mr. Wells, therefore this newspaper takes the liberty of reprinting it, giving full credit to Mr. Gibbons and the Washington Herald.

Allan Wells had an adventurous career during the World War. He was in the British infantry from 1914 on and then with the American Air Service when we came into the war. He's been wounded a couple of times, too, but he says his most exciting adven-

Governor Warns Against Repeal Of Sales Tax

It was a notable gathering at the Lions Club luncheon in Carl's Roof Garden Rendezvous yesterday noon. Governor Frank F. Merriam was the speaker of the day. He was introduced by District Governor Roy Day of the California district. Among the important people present were Julien D. Russell, secretary of the state highway commission; Bill Hay, announcer for Amos 'n' Andy; George L. Wing, deputy district governor, of Banning.

Governor Merriam made a stirring plea for the retention of the state sales tax and defeat of the single tax proposal, which, he said, its proponents will again attempt to place on the ballot next November.

Before 1933 real estate was paying 76 per cent of the taxes in the state and receiving less than 30 per cent of the benefits. In 1933, at a special election, the people voted to take the public utility companies from the state tax rolls and put them back on the county rolls, thus taking $62,000,000 each biennium from the state. At the same time the people voted to have the state assume full responsibility of financing the schools, thus adding $80,000,000, thus making it necessary for the state to find $142,000,000 tax revenues. The legislature then voted the sales tax, for school purposes only.

Previously the state gave $30.00 annually for each elementary school student and $60 for each high school student. To this the counties added $30 for each student. The people voted to throw all this burden on the state, and now the state pays $60 for each student in the elementary schools and $90 for each high school student. The sales tax was the solution. ### Joe Schobe is Appointed on F. H. A. Committee ture took place after the war—1919—while he was an American relief worker in Turkey.

The Federal Housing Administration at Los Angeles, reported this week the appointment of Joe Schobe, associate of Ed Lindop at Desert Sands Estates and president of the Lions club, as the committeeman representing the Palm Springs Realty board on a newly-appointed special Federal Housing Administration real estate board committee for 1938, composed of one representative of each of the real estate boards in Southern California.

Well, sir, Allan says his job was to transport food into the interior of Anatolia. He had a fleet of old German cars driven by Turks, Armenians and Kurds and guarded, against the bandits, by Turkish soldiers. His base was Caesarea—the city of massacres—and there he made the friendship of Capt. Nazim Bey, military governor of the city, and spent many week-ends with the Turkish captain.

One memorable week-end Nazim Bey took his American friend to visit a local sheik who had his palace high on the side of "Allah Dah"—the Mountain of God—and the friends were entertained royally. Servants, sword dancers, dervishes and Turkish orchestras all contributed to their good time and many cups of Turkish "Racky" and whole roast sheep were consumed in the two days the party lasted.

Well, sir, in those days Turkish women were always veiled and never allowed to mingle with the men. Mustapha Kemal has since changed all that but in the days of the Sultan many unfortunate men have been sent.

First Sculpture Exhibition Tuesday

Palm Springs' first exhibition of fine sculpture will start February 1st for several weeks. Following their desire to sponsor only the finest art, The Desert Inn Galleries present Anna Coleman Ladd and her splendid bronzes.

The twelve pieces to be shown will be placed on the lawn between Bullock's and the patio dining room of the Desert Inn. Everyone interested in beautiful and unusual sculpture is invited there to see them.

Mrs. Ladd has won an impressive list of honors with her work both here and abroad. Various of her pieces have been purchased by such people as Eleanor Duse, Prof. Gallenga, the Bavarian Minister to the Vatican, Ethel Barrymore, Belasco, and Junius Morgan. She is one of the few women in the National Sculpture Society and has been given "one-man shows" at the Corcoran Gallery, the Pennsylvania Academy, Gorham's, etc., besides exhibiting at the Panama-Pacific Exposition and in Paris and Rome, in both of which cities she has studied for many years.

Mrs. Ladd's sculpture is for the most part idealistic in thought and execution. She has been inspired to do some of her most notable work using such themes as, "Peace," "Pride of Life," and "Vision." These last two bronzes will be in the group displayed here. Some of her smaller pieces will be placed in the Gallery.

As a background to Mrs. Ladd's sculpture the Gallery will show a selected group of desert landscapes by California's best desert painters. Some of these canvases have never been exhibited before. The whole collection is a stunning exhibition and well worth seeing.

Rosicrucian Books At Public Library In Palm Springs

Additional volumes treating on the subject of Rosicrucianism have been added to the collection of Rosicrucian philosophy at the local public library. Mrs. A. C. Garner, local Rosicrucian member, states that she has been informed by the grand secretary of the Rosicrucian Order with national headquarters in San Jose, California, that because of the demand for works on this subject, it has been found necessary to donate further copies to the Palm Springs library. Mrs. Garner also declares that since the Rosicrucian Order, known as the AMORC, is not a religious organization, all of its publications are treatises on philosophy, metaphysics, the sciences and arts—the object of the organization being to acquaint the student or member with the nature of existence and to give an understanding of the fundamental laws of life so as to permit him to realize a fuller and more abundant existence.

"The selection of cities for the periodic national Rosicrucian conclaves is determined," further stated Mrs. Garner, "by the interest shown by the reading public in the organization's publications and the monthly periodical, 'The Rosicrucian Digest,' in the public libraries." In addition to holding membership conclaves in such cities, extensive advertising is then conducted by the grand lodge in the local press. The funds that make possible the donation of books to the public libraries are the result of contributions of local members of the organization.

Mr. and Mrs. Jack Runyon of Glendale witness a swimming event at El Mirador Pool. They were here for some time visiting with Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Barbee of Coca Cola fame, and left Tuesday for their Glendale home, but will return to El Mirador next week for a longer stay. Mr. Runyon is the son of a wealthy Glendale publisher and his charming wife is the former Decla Dunning, socialite, U. C. L. A. graduate and member of Kappa Alpha Beta sorority. —Frank Bogert Photo.

Fire Department Answers Call on Reservation

About 10:30 Wednesday night the usual quiet serenity that settles over the village by this time of night was suddenly and rudely broken by the loud shrill shrieking of sirens, as the Palm Springs police car sped north on Palm Canyon Drive with siren open, and a moment later the siren on the fire station opened up. Immediately following, a fire engine whizzed south on Palm Canyon Drive, also with siren wide open.

It sounded as though a major catastrophe had occurred in the village, and could have been, but for the quick and efficient coordinated efforts of the Palm Springs police force and fire department, and the new ruling allowing the local fire department to answer calls on the reservation.

It seems that the police car was cruising along Indian avenue about 10:30 Wednesday night when its occupants spied flames in the front office of the Indian Paint Store. Immediately the officers opened the throttle and headed for the fire department, which was only three blocks away, and a moment later the fire boys answered the call.

Breaking the lock on the front door of the establishment, the firemen found, upon entering the establishment that a kerosene stove had caught fire and was blazing viciously in the middle of the room. Chemicals were used and the fire was immediately extinguished.

Wally Cavender, owner of the Paint Store, had gone out for the evening. As he sleeps in the rear of the store, he had left the stove going in order that the room would be warm when he returned later that night. Many times before he had left the stove on all night so that the store would be warm the next morning, but never before had the kerosene stove caused him any trouble.

This is the first occasion that the local fire department has had to answer a fire call on the reservation since it was decided last week that their equipment could be used on the reservation.

Had this fire gone undiscovered long, had the police and fire departments been less efficient, or had the fire department still been unable to combat fires on the reservation (because of certain restrictions to that effect) a very serious fire might have occurred.

The Indian Paint Store is in the center of a very much built-up area on the reservation; and if the fire had not been extinguished immediately it would have soon had the paint store would have soon consumed the paint store and the blaze would have spread rapidly to other buildings.

Labor Council Seeks Funds for Fire Protection

Editor of The Desert Sun.

Dear Sir: Inasmuch as there is no fire protection here in Palm Springs for the many people who live on the Indian lands, and as many of these people have their money invested in their humble homes on that land;

The Palm Springs Central Labor Council has taken the stand that some means for the protection of these people and their property against fire should be found. As a result, a voluntary committee of duly accredited members of the Council have, in the past week, presented a petition to these Indian land residents, soliciting pledges, with the purpose in mind of furthering proper fire protection for them.

The response has been very good and it is believed by the workers in this cause that other citizens of Palm Springs might wish to help, and at the same time add to their own protection.

Any pledges toward this cause will be greatly appreciated. Any of the following named committeemen will gladly accept anyone's name as a pledge for future assistance.

Respectfully and cordially submitted,

O. W. BOBO.

Secretary.

Barker Bros.' New Model Home Opens Tomorrow, Saturday

New Model Home Emphasizes Best In Desert Living

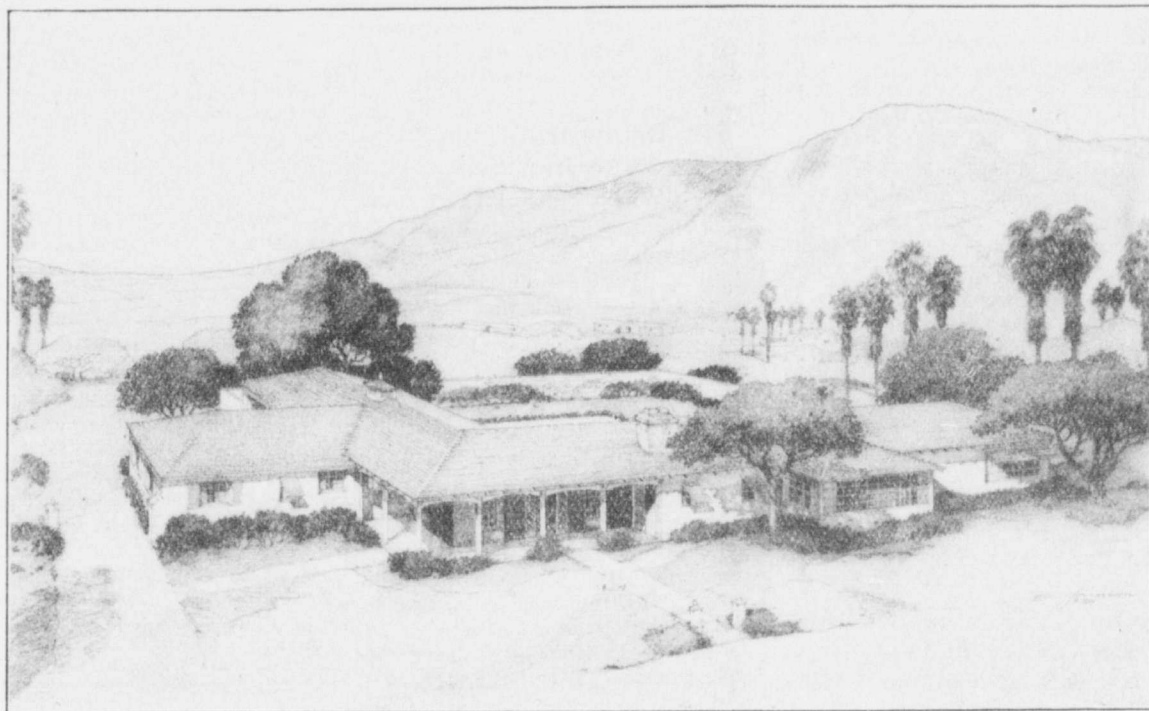

Barker Bros.' new and beautiful model home located in Tahquitz Park near the Palm Springs Tennis Club will open tomorrow, Saturday, Jan. 29, to the delight of all lovers of the latest in desert style homes.

This unique and very modern new home is located in what is affectionately referred to by many as the "Old Palm Springs," that section of the village lying to the south and west of the Oasis Hotel, where the first pioneers to come to this region made their homes. On higher ground than the village proper, this unusual model home commands a marvelous view of the desert, the distant delicately colored hills, and of the village in the immediate foreground.

Sun-drenched colors, modernity, cool comfort; these typify the desert home completely furnished by Barker Bros. This lovely house consists of three master bedrooms, three and one-half baths, a living room, a small dining room, and, of course, the ever-essential screened living room porch. Other features of the lovely home are the two large servants' rooms with the adjoining servants' bath, the unusual kitchen, the pantry-bar and the large double garage.

Through the entire house one recognizes that everything — architecture, color schemes, furnishings — stresses suitability for living in the desert. The unusual color combinations, sun and sand, deep green and desert pink, are gay, but restrained so that one will not tire of them.

The home—low, rambling, bordering on the Georgian type, is 130 feet wide across the front. The exterior is done in a light stucco, a color between an off-white and a cream, with a cedar shingle roof. The majority of the interior is done in a hunter's green and in honey color, the accent being in the desert coral pink of the furniture. The grass-cloth walls of the master bedrooms lead a softness to these rooms that is restful and pleasing.

The kitchen and the pantry-bar are very unusual in decoration, and this part of the home is one of its outstanding features. Done in jade, hunter's green, desert coral pink, and honey color, these rooms grow on one until they become very delightful.

The screened living room porch is another fine feature of the home. This is a general utility room that can be used on occasions as a play room, a living room, or as a place to dine. It faces on the enclosed garden and is entirely open on one side. The floor of this room is of rubber linoleum.

All floors in the home are of concrete, and are either carpeted, or covered with linoleum.

This beautiful home was conceived by and is the property of Mr. and Mrs. Austin G. McManus, owners and developers of Tahquitz Park. It is being completely furnished by Barker Bros. It was built by contractor W. R. Atkin of Palm Springs. The electrical work was done by Homer Jenkins, local electrical contractor. The sheet metal work was done by Jessup & Connell, of the village. The interior decorating is the work of Paul Schwenzfeier, Jr., and the heating and ventilating system was sold and installed by the Desert Heating and Air-Conditioning Co., Inc., of Palm Springs and Long Beach.

Signs are being placed at convenient points to direct interested persons to this latest and finest Barker Bros.' model home.

SPECIAL SESSION OF STATE LEGISLATURE

A special session of the California legislature will be called, probably within a month, Gov. Frank F. Merriam said at Sacramento. The Governor said he could not fix the date for the call, but that it probably will be near March 1.

Four matters to come before the special session, the Governor said include:

Oil leasing in connection with state-owned pools under state-owned tide or submerged lands.

An appropriation for the industrial accident commission, passed at the last session of the legislature but called into question since then.

Some sort of legislation enabling the state and municipal corporations to take advantage of Federal housing acts.

Amendment of the agricultural prorate act, to cover prunes.

State Income Tax Man Here Feb. 7

Rennie Hopper, income tax examiner from the Los Angeles office of the Franchise Tax Commissioner of the State of California, was in Palm Springs on Thursday of this week and announced that he had made arrangements to have a man from the Income Tax Department stationed in the office of the Palm Springs Chamber of Commerce on Monday, Feb. 7, to assist localities in filing their state income tax returns.

A notary public will be available also that day at the office of the chamber of commerce, and no notary fee will be charged for the acknowledgements.

Blanks are available at the present time at the chamber of commerce office and will be so right along.

The man from the state income tax department will be stationed at the chamber of commerce from 9 a. m. to 5 p. m. on Monday, Feb. 7th.

Archie O. Palmer Appoints New Insurance Manager

Archie O. Palmer, well known local realtor and insurance man, this week announced that he has placed Richard W. "Dick" Haas, formerly of Los Angeles, in charge of his insurance department.

Mr. Haas has been affiliated for over fifteen years with various prominent insurance companies and for the past eleven years has been located in Los Angeles.

Mr. and Mrs. Haas have taken a house in the village and plan to reside here the year around.

Mr. Haas took up his duties Monday at the Archie O. Palmer office on Palm Canyon Drive.

Don Lee's Widow Weds L. A. Man; To Honeymoon In Palm Springs

Mrs. Geraldine Lee, 27-year-old socialite and former wife of the late Don Lee, automobile magnate, was married in Santa Barbara yesterday to John Hill Binford, Los Angeles publicity man, and the couple will honeymoon in Palm Springs.

Setting for the nuptials, which were read by Judge Thomas P. White of the Los Angeles Superior Court, was the Anacapa Cottage of the Santa Barbara Altmore Hotel.

Attending the bride, who wore a smart gray suit trimmed with blue fox complemented by orchids, was her sister, Mrs. Millard Smith of Beverly Hills. Serving Mr. Binford as best man was Thomas Caton.

Among the small group of friends and relatives witnessing the ceremony was Mrs. I. L. Jeffus, mother of the bride, of Brawley, and Frank L. Binford, wealthy oil and lumber man of Indianapolis, father of the bridegroom.

Thumbs Ride On Dynamite Truck

"Peanuts" Shelton thumbed a ride to Beaumont from Riverside on a truck. Was someone's face red when the driver politely informed him he was riding on four tons of dynamite? "No danger 'tall, me lad, unless a stray car or truck hits us doing 75 or 90—and no danger then! What will be left of me and thee will be just a few bits of rubber tubing draped over some pepper tree." "What—no big red apples?" Peanuts claims he answered. "Give her the gun—I'm ridin' 'er!"

Cocktail Party At Racquet Club

Last Monday night, C. Grayson Dimon of New York, head of a large navigation company, gave a smart cocktail party for about ten of his guests at the Racquet Club. The guests included William Plankington of New York, Robert Wakefield, Mr. and Mrs. Theodore Wilcox of Portland, Oregon, and Mr. and Mrs. Charles Farrell. Mr. Dimon's aunt, Mrs. Ludovica D. Graham, resides on West Alejo Road.

Major Edwards To Face Charge of Petty Theft

Major J. Paulding Edwards of Palm Springs, who was ruled sane on a directed jury verdict after an insanity hearing Monday at Riverside, will probably be charged with petty theft for passing of several fictitious checks. Deputy Sheriff E. J. Burr, in charge of psychopathic cases, declared yesterday.

Edwards allegedly has passed several instruments throughout the county, and he was committed to Sawtelle Veterans hospital on an insanity complaint.

On his request for a jury trial, one was held. When the state was unable to prove Edwards a danger to either himself or others, Acting Superior Judge R. A. Moore directed the jury to return a verdict of sanity.

The charge probably will be filed in Riverside justice court and will be based on checks passed here, Burr said. Edwards is now being held at the county jail.

Masonic Luncheon Club Meets Next Tuesday

The Palm Springs Masonic Luncheon Club will hold its regular bi-weekly meeting on Tuesday, February 1st at 12:15 p. m. at Carl's in the Plaza. All Master Masons sojourning in Palm Springs are welcome.

Honeymooners to Visit At Levie-Neusteter Home

Mr. and Mrs. Myron David Neusteter will arrive here this week-end to visit at the home of relatives, Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Levie and Mrs. M. Neusteter. The couple were married in Los Angeles and spent their honeymoon on the Hawaiian Islands.

Mrs. Neusteter, formerly Shirley Lorraine Rosenthal, is a very charming young lady. Her photograph was published in the Los Angeles Times this week. The Neusteters own the largest exclusive ladies' department store in the West, located in Denver. Mr. Levie is one of the chief executives of the company, and he and his family spend their winters in their Palm Springs home.

Estimates cheerfully furnished. Dill Lumber Co.

Harold Hicks Entertains With Cocktail Party

Harold Hicks, prominent local realtor, entertained his many friends in the village this afternoon with a novel and interesting Lichi cocktail party at the fine new demonstration home in Little Tuscany.

Cocktails were served from four to six o'clock this afternoon with many villagers dropping in for cocktails and to enjoy the unusual experience of attending a Lichi cocktail party.

"The Drunkard" Hero To Be Seen In Movie Preview At The Plaza

Carleton Young, who plays the part of the drunkard in the play of the same name, now showing at El Paseo Theatre, appears in a thrilling Western motion picture, the preview of which will be at The Plaza Theatre first show, 7 o'clock, tomorrow (Saturday) evening. It is a major studio feature picture, and the first showing will be in Palm Springs.

Film Star and Oil Man Here For Honeymoon

Mr. and Mrs. Claude Smith, who were married this week in Los Angeles, are now honeymooning in Palm Springs. Mr. Smith is a San Diego oil magnate and Mrs. Smith is the former Helen Holmes, motion picture actress and stand-in for Alice Faye. Miss Faye and her husband, Tony Martin, stood up with the couple when they were married. Mr. and Mrs. Tony Martin are frequent guests in Palm Springs.

Salvation Army Drive Is Now Under Way

The annual financial appeal of the Salvation Army is now underway. Raymond Cree, local campaign chairman, has sent 600 circular letters to Palm Springs residents, and he anticipates that Palm Springs will again do its part in supporting the general welfare work of the Salvation Army.

Al Gardiner, branch manager of the Bank of America, is the treasurer, and contributions may be left with him.

A considerable portion of the Salvation Army's state work is made possible by the generous aid of citizens communities such as Palm Springs. Otherwise, it would be difficult to keep the doors open of the Army's worthwhile institutions.

The reconstruction of lives, the establishment of character, and the mending of broken ideals is a work that requires sympathetic understanding, and it is along this line that the Salvation Army endeavors to help lift those who are in need not only of material but spiritual help as well. The secret of the success of The Salvation Army has ever been built along these lines.

Jimmy Glendye Again On the Job

It is with pleasure that the villagers and guests again have the opportunity to greet Jimmy Glendye on the streets of Palm Springs or at the entrance to Jack's Barn, for he has fully recovered from an automobile accident which occurred some weeks ago.

Jimmy is again as "fit as a fiddle," and as "Uncle Zeb," he expects to entertain the Desert Circus crowds along the line of parade and at the Field Club. He is the kindly old New England "rube" who greets the visitors at Jack's Barn, but in reality Jimmy isn't an old man.

Gas Company Seeks Solution Of Controversy

The Chamber of Commerce gas tank committee has received a letter from H. L. Masser, executive vice-president of the Southern California Gas Company, stating that his company is still studying the problem of placing the gas holder, located three miles north of town, in a horizontal position or camouflaging the same to eliminate the industrial appearance. Following is the letter:

Southern California Gas Company
810 South Flower Street
Los Angeles

January 13, 1938

Messrs. Raymond Cree,
Alvah F. Hicks,
Philip L. Boyd,
Chamber of Commerce Committee,
Palm Springs, California.

Gentlemen:
Your letter of December 31, 1937, addressed to Mr. A. B. Macbeth, relative to the gas holder near Palm Springs, has been referred to me for attention. I apologize for the delay, which has been caused by our desire to get under way with engineering studies of the problem, the holidays, and the need for further inspection of the site by our engineers.

Following our last visit with you, a few days before Christmas, this matter was presented to our engineering department with instructions to proceed with making a detailed study of the problem of laying the holder in a horizontal position at the location you suggested. This study is now in progress, and is indeed quite complicated from an engineering standpoint as to design of rigging, and the general procedure for handling the great weight of this holder. We are making a study in our design department relative to the construction of a surrounding structure which would eliminate the industrial appearance of the holder and present a very attractive exterior, in keeping with local architecture, and surrounded by appropriate planting.

Because of the unusual nature of the problem involved, the builders of this holder did not find themselves in a position to consider the question of laying it down in a horizontal position, and it is therefore necessary for us to find other organizations in order to discuss with them, in a preliminary manner, our thoughts in handling such a job.

Your letter and some of your personal comments to us included, with the idea of laying the holder horizontally, the thought that it might also be placed in a pit to still further reduce its elevation above the ground surface. Such a pit to be effective would, of course, add a very large figure to the cost of the work, as well as involve additional engineering complications.

May I assure you that we are sincerely and diligently studying this problem, and will again communicate with you in the near future, doubtless calling upon you at Palm Springs.

Yours very truly,

H. L. MASSER
Executive Vice-President.

Mrs. Mary Mullen, of the Desert Inn staff, is recuperating from an operation in the Riverside Community Hospital.

Paleminos Make Big Hit in Parade

Twelve beautiful paleminos are stabled at Idyllwild-Palms Stables, and will be seen in the rodeo parades tomorrow and Sunday forenoons.

These fine fawn-colored horses, all practically alike, are owned by P. C. Dunn of Colorado, and were brought here by Cowboy Glenn McCall. They made a big hit in the gymkhana parade last Sunday morning, and are in demand by local riders, who love to ride them across the desert.

Beth Chase and Dorothy Varnum, sisters, who operate the Idyllwild-Palms Stables here, invite the public to come to their stables out on Andreas Road, past the Indian Store, to see the horses.

The charming Misses Chase and Varnum have been in popular demand recently to guide riding parties across the desert to interesting places. Wednesday morning they conducted a party of ten from their stable on the weekly Desert Riders breakfast ride to the hills near Jack's Barn.

Yesterday morning they guided a party up Palm Canyon to the bench and Cregar's Palm Canyon Trading Post.

Movie stars are also on their list of clients. Patsy Kelly rode from their stables yesterday, and the other day three members of Sonja Henie's orchestra in "One in a Million," rode with them. They were Harry Hier, Johnny Puleo and Al Furbish. They have just finished a Paramount picture with Jane Withers.

Tuesday evening the two sisters entertained Mr. and Mrs. Claude Donner, San Francisco honeymooners, at the El Mirador dinner dance.

WINTER SPORTS AT IDYLLWILD

Within an hour's drive of Palm Springs, first-class snow sports are being enjoyed. With a fine fall of snow covering the Idyllwild area, skiing and tobogganing are now at their best on the mountainside playground. Information from Idyllwild Inn and the chamber of commerce up there advises tobogganing is best after 4 o'clock in the afternoon. It's just 50 miles of motoring from Palm Springs to snow sports at Idyllwild.

Harry V. Law's Pictures On Exhibition In International Studio

In the new art gallery, the International Studios, in the patio of the Pacific building, the colorful work of Harry V. Law is exhibited. Among the collection are a number of watercolors which were shown in New York at the Delphic Studios last spring.

Mr. Law has exhibited at the Chicago Art Institute and held one-man shows in the large Pacific Coast cities; as former secretary-treasurer of the California Watercolor Society he is well-known in this state.

The new gallery was opened by Ethel C. McDonald of New York and Silvermin, Connecticut. Miss McDonald will spend the remainder of the season in Palm Springs, unless her work should suddenly call her back to New York. She is known as a feature writer and publicist and is a member of the League of American Pen Women.

Mr. Law's exhibit is the first of a series which will be shown in the studios during the rest of the season.

THINKING ALOUD

By TED HODGES

Scribble Inn . . . Palm Springs Sunday's Gymkhana. The selection of Miss "Pat" Percival as Queen of the coming rodeo. Hardly a selection. "Pat" just went out and rode, and there was not the slightest doubt as to where the crown belonged.

Whispering quietly to her horse as she rode, the young queen seemed to convey to the animal "something important was at stake." He responded like a thoroughbred. After all who wouldn't?

A tip to Hollywood producers of Westerns, Johnnie Gardner. There's a fellow who rides like the brand on a horse's flank. Chews gum like a whirling propeller and packs enough comedy to make even a disinterested columnist write about him. He bunks at McDonald's Stables. . . in case.

A nest of cactus to the gnat that drove out of the Field Club after the games at sixty miles an hour. Sending pedestrians scurrying for safety and covering everybody with showers of dust.

I suppose in the eyes of a horsey insect—hoofers coming from a fashionable gymkhana merit no consideration, but you would be surprised the number of patrons from Ramon Trailer Park, just down the road, who attend Field Club events.

Visitors to Scribble Inn: Bill Plankinton, whose "gadget" represents an estate on wheels. Bob Diamond and the attractive Mrs. Diamond, from my old town Bronxville. Bringing news of an old golfing pal, "Jess" Sweetser, first American to win the British amateur title. With them, Oliver Wakefield, English comedy star on the new Paul Whiteman radio hour.

Bearing gifts of Ensenada lobsters, my near namesake "Fred" Hodge. Fred either lost an us or I gained one, we'll never know. Any arguments over a mere alphabetical discrepancy fade as playmate, compared with savory visions of lobsters "a-la-newburgh," reeking with sherry.

Lucien Wheeler. Twelve years in the U. S. secret service. Eight years of Department of Justice. Fourteen of which the "Chief" assigned to guarding our Presidents, starting with the late beloved Theodore Roosevelt.

After four years as head of the Dept. of Justice in Los Angeles, Mr. Wheeler now finds the picture studios and other sources, a lucrative diversion as a private investigator.

Shades of Sherlock Holmes pervading the patio of Scribble Inn during my favored visit with the famed Lucien Wheeler.

Almost a weekly visitor. A picturesque short, husky, young Indian, who wears a vivid orange skull-cap, goes hunting regularly for jackrabbits and then stops by for a glass of water. With glee telling me he had finally "potted" one. A bit of ribbing accepted good naturedly, that he had not inherited the famed marksmanship of his ancestors. Explained away—"those dude riders scared them all off the reservation"—mebbe so.

A suggestion in a recent issue of The Desert Sun. Public donations to purchase palm trees for the grounds of the new high school.

Over at the Field Club, the holders of private boxes are indicated by small plaques with names inscribed. From the attractive drawing shown for the use of these palm trees, it would seem that thirty or forty of these stately palms are all that would be required.

Why not solicit a sufficient number of individuals, each to sponsor a tree. A Mrs. Nellie Coffman, Mrs. Austin McManus, An "Amos" "Andy," Warren Pinney, Charlie Farrell etc., etc. These names are traditional with the growth of publicity of Palm Springs, and would serve as a fitting testimonial for future generations to reflect upon.

***

Ed Ainsworth. Thank you for the quote. Have an idea, the onus of doing a "daily." "Along El Camino Real" however, rarely seems to reflect any lack of inspiration. If time permits, when next you visit Palm Springs, Scribble Inn nests over in a corner of Ramon. Incidentally we're doing a swell rodeo down here this coming week-end.

From all indications, it won't be long before Palm Springs becomes a city. Of course then there will be the usual political scramble for the honor of mayor.

I know of no law that prohibits the election of a mayoress.

Why not anticipate the event by taking it for granted that Mrs. Nellie Coffman will preside over this city. By acclamation, as an added gesture.

The famed Desert Inn, known as the first White House of Palm Springs, would seem a perfect traditional setting and a lasting memorial to Mrs. Coffman, whose foresight and pioneerage have seen a mere desert-hitching post grow into a thriving municipality—known throughout the world.

"The Drunkard" Cast and Others From Near and Far Celebrate at Jack's Barn

Members of "The Drunkard" cast were guests at Jack's Barn Wednesday evening. When they entered the Barn, Jack's Swing and Sway orchestra played "The Drunkard's" theme song, "The Little Old Tavern."

Twenty-one people came down from Big Bear Valley one night last week to enjoy a party at this popular night spot.

Every Wednesday night is employees' night at The Barn and every Thursday night is "square dance night."

Two Youths Held For Palm Springs Burglary

The Palm Springs police department has again proved the effectiveness of its patrol service, for on Sunday night two youths were arrested in Tahquitz Desert Estates while one of them was committing a burglary. So far Chief Lloyd Boller and his officers have cleared up every crime that has been committed in Palm Springs during the past two years, but this is the first case where burglars were caught while committing the act.

Arrested after they had asserted effected entrance to a Palm Springs residence Sunday night, Ruel Earl Chapman, 22, and Howard Herbert Gates, 21, of San Francisco, were Monday held to answer to the superior court on charges of burglary. They are now confined in the county jail.

Chapman, who reputedly was formerly enlisted in the U. S. Marines having left the service last December and his companion were taken into custody in the home of Mrs. John Newton Russell.

Chief of Police L. J. Boller and Deputy Sheriff Sam Wilson, of Palm Springs, who were called to the home by neighbors who saw a light in the building and knew the owner was not at her Palm Springs home, reported they caught the two youths inside the home with loot placed in bundles ready for transportation.

A car, which was found in possession of the pair, is said to have been stolen many months ago in San Francisco. Gates, who told officers Chapman asked him to accompany him on the trip south, disclaimed knowledge of the contents of the car in which they went to Palm Springs last week.

From the office of Sheriff Carl Rayburn an all-points bulletin was sent out by teletype, giving a description of the articles found in possession of the two men. Included were a tuxedo and other suits of clothes, suitcase, gladstone bag, blankets, sleeping bags, canvas, a kit of surgical tools, a U. S. Navy lock, several articles of jewelry, and a set of 1937 license plates bearing the numerals 4C6853. A number of the articles had initials upon them, and officers are of the opinion that they represent loot from other "jobs" which the two youths may have committed.

Guest Nights Scheduled for The Drunkard

A series of special guest-nights are being arranged for The Drunkard, now playing nightly at the El Paseo Theatre on North Palm Canyon Drive. Each night a different organization, hotel, town, etc., is to be invited to attend a performance; the members of this organization, the guests of this hotel, or the citizens of this town, as the case may be, being the honored guests of the evening.

In each case, however, the general public is also very welcome to attend the performance of The Drunkard, although it is a special guest-night.

The nights planned are as follows: Friday, Jan. 28, will be El Mirador Hotel night with the guests and employees of that hotel attending. Saturday and Sunday, Jan. 29 and 30, will be Palm Springs Field Club and rodeo night with members of the Field Club and the various performers in the rodeo being the honored guests of the evening. Monday night, Jan. 31, will be Palm Springs employees night with the employees of The Desert Inn, Village Inn, and other local employees in attendance.

On Tuesday night, Feb. 1, the guests at The Desert Inn and The Village Inn will be the honored guests of the evening at the Drunkard. Wednesday night, Feb. 2, will be the big night for Hotel The Oasis, The Town House, and the Colonial House. Thursday, Feb. 3, will be B Bar H Ranch, Smoke Tree Ranch, and Desert Riders night. Friday night, Feb. 4th, will be Del Tahquitz night. Saturday night, Feb. 5, will be Riverside County Fair, Date Fiesta, and Indio Stampede night. And on Sunday night, Feb. 6, the cities of Banning and Beaumont will be invited to attend as the special guests of honor at a performance of the Drunkard.

Other guest-nights may be scheduled following Sunday night, Feb. 6, if the demand arises.

Little Mike Isenagle had another birthday party last Friday, when he became three years old. His old-time pals, Brent Parrish and Jeremy Crocker, and their girl friends, Susan Hanzlik and Suzanne Chapman, were the guests. His kid brother, Pete Isenagle, also helped in the celebration. Mrs. Isenagle was assisted by her mother, Mrs. Helen White of Pasadena.

Wednesday Bridge Luncheon Is Well Attended

The Desert Inn Wednesday afternoon bridge luncheon party was well attended, with 17 tables of bridge enthusiasts, Mrs. John Munholland and Miss Julia Wells being the winners of prizes.

Those who came for the afternoon of bridge were: Mrs. Francis Crocker, Mrs. Julia Carnell, Mrs. H. R. Hansen, Mrs. Clark B. Whittier, Miss Julia Wells, Mrs. John Munholland, Mrs. Wm. Chas. Tanner, Mrs. H. Bedford-Jones, Mrs. A. C. McLeish, Mrs. John Wheeler, Mrs. Jack C. Hill, Mrs. Fred Chatworthy, Mrs. A. Luckletter, Mrs. H. Pendry, all of Palm Springs.

From Cathedral City: Mrs. J. O. Clark, Mrs. A. Ercle, Mrs. I. M. Bovorac and Mrs. R. W. Brady made up a table.

Others who played were: Mrs. W. J. Thompson, Chestnut Hills, Mass.; Mrs. Maude Osburn, Estes Park, Colo.; Mrs. Chas. Sweet, Madina, New York; Mrs. Ruth Mayo, Del Monte, Calif.; Mrs. James Wilson, Watsonville, Calif.; Mrs. George Shawver and Mrs. R. B. Harmon of Holtville, Calif.; Miss Laura Ogilvy, Cincinnati, Ohio; and Mrs. Glen Young, of San Diego.

Mrs. Coffman Entertains 50 Boy Scouts and Leaders of Santa Barbara

Mrs. Nellie N. Coffman entertained the Mission Council of Boy Scouts from Santa Barbara for breakfast on Sunday morning. Fifty strong, the boys and scoutmasters, who represent all five of the Santa Barbara county scout groups, appeared at the Inn at the break of dawn. They left Santa Barbara Saturday morning, in charge of R. F. MacFarlan, District Commissioner, for a two day good will tour. Mission Inn and March Field were visited on the way to Banning where they spent Saturday night.

After breakfast at the Inn the boys were entertained by Palm Springs troupe No. 39. Dr. Macartney held services for the boys and they visited the date gardens and other interesting spots in the vicinity before leaving for Santa Barbara.

Each of the visiting scouts won his place on the trip through his efforts in obtaining new scout members and subscriptions for "Boys Life," the scout magazine.

Desert Inn Guests At Andreas Canyon And Mission Creek

Desert Inn guests motored and rode horseback to Andreas Canyon last Monday for the regular Monday desert picnic.

Chicken and steaks broiled over an open bed of hot coals with all the "fixins" was followed by cowboy and Spanish tunes by Whiteflower and Johnnie Boyle.

Those who attended were: Mr. and Mrs. H. L. Farrar of Burlingame; Mrs. Henry M. Cury, Pittsburgh; Mrs. J. Judson Brooks Jr., Sewickley, Pa.; Mr. and Mrs. W. O. Schock, St. Louis, Mo.; Mr. and Mrs. H. H. Quackenbush, Palm Springs; Mr. and Mrs. W. F. Detwiler, Pittsburgh; Mr. and Mrs. Ed Ainsworth, South Pasadena; Mrs. R. E. Connolly, Oakland; Mr. and Mrs. Randolph Christie, Beverly Hills; Fred Wolvin and Miss Ella Nielson of Duluth, Minn.; Misses Alice and Elizabeth Lyng of Oakland; Mrs. William Butterworth, Miss Ruth Mall, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Deere Wiman, Miss Helen Spencer and Miss Patricia Deere Wiman, all of Chicago.

Guests of the Desert Inn motored to T-Cross-K Ranch on Mission Creek last Thursday for another desert picnic prepared by Chuck Abbott and Johnnie Boyle. The grills and tables were set up along side of Mission Creek where a fine view could be had of the vast Coachella Valley and San Geronimo Pass.

After a luncheon of grilled chicken the guests listened to Whiteflower and Johnnie Boyle. Those present were Mrs. Adele Schayer, Hollywood; Mrs. Wilson S. Dunn, N.Y.C.; Mrs. Alice Ayrault, Madina, N.Y.; Fred Wolvin, Duluth, Minn.; Miss Ella Nielson, Duluth, Minn.; and Mrs. R. Graham and party of four.

Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Borden, socially prominent Palm Springs residents are at present visiting Piedmont and Northern California. Before their return, they will join the winter colony at Yosemite for skiing and winter sports.

Mr. and Mrs. R. Frohm spent the last Friday and Saturday at Nightingale.

ADVERTISE in The Desert Sun for best results.

Louise Webster To Wed Harold Schilling, Scion of Famous San Francisco Family

The Los Angeles Herald-Express this week announced the engagement of Louise Webster of Palm Springs to Harold Schilling, scion of the prominent San Francisco spice and coffee importing family.

Mrs. Webster is the charming daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Roberson of the Desert Inn. She was practically raised in Palm Springs, graduating from the local elementary school, Banning Union high school, and an exclusive girls' school near the coast.

Mr. Schilling has made many friends here during his frequent trips to Palm Springs, and met his bride-to-be at The Desert Inn. He is connected with the Raymond Whitcomb Company of Los Angeles, hotel and tour operators.

Fashion Show Is Occasion For Many Luncheon Parties

Bullock's informal showing of spring fashions at the Desert Inn on Tuesday was the occasion for many smart luncheon parties.

Among those who witnessed the models parading in the newest styles were Mrs. J. W. McAllister, who entertained Mesdames J. E. French, Maude Hadenfeldt, F. Dettman, G. Hugh Banning, Ruth Sherman, F. MacLiesh, Richardson Baldwin and A. H. Buhl.

Mrs. James Arkell had as her guests Mrs. A. L. D. Warner, Mrs. Forrest Mathez, and Miss Claire Mathez.

Mrs. Jane Benson Britton, Mrs. Adele Schoyer and Miss Hilda Olson were the guests of Mrs. Alfred F. Benson of Chicago.

From the Oasis Hotel came Mrs. H. B. Lake, Mr. and Mrs. W. Schweitzer, Mrs. Courtney Platt and Miss Barbara Gabriel.

Mr. and Mrs. W. O. Schock of St. Louis entertained Mr. and Mrs. U. S. Schwartz of New York City.

Mr. and Mrs. George Roberson's table included Dr. and Mrs. Henry Hoagland, Mrs. Harry Hanbury, Mrs. L. W. Dennison, and Louise Webster. Dutch-treating at a table were Mesdames O. Fenwick, H. Blanding, F. G. Wilson, Wm. Runyon, Ward Sullivan and Armond Turonnet.

From the El Mirador came Mrs. Claude Jensen, Mrs. L. M. Flesch, Mrs. Harry Green, Mrs. Irving Lindberg, Mrs. Clara Porter and Mrs. D. Golden Colley.

At Mrs. Earl Coffman's table were Mesdames Marion Fulford, H. E. Patterson, Ernie Fors, Bacon Clifton, H. H. Quackenbush and Mrs. J. Kocher.

Mrs. Henry Wick entertained Mrs. Josephine Alcott of Boston and her niece, Mrs. Borden Randolph, of New York City.

Mrs. Ray Wilson's guests were Mr. and Mrs. Thos. A. O'Donnell and Mrs. R. E. Connolly.

Sitting at Mrs. Janet Manwaring's table were Mrs. Alice Ayrault, Mr. Fred Wolvin, Miss Ella Nielson, Mrs. John R. E. Chaffey and Mrs. Robt. McGonagle.

Mrs. Charles Crane of Chicago had as her guests Truman Gridley, Mrs. Mat Fowler, Mrs. Katherine MacDonald and her grand-daughter, Mrs. Harold Bradley.

Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Ford of Toledo entertained Mr. and Mrs. Horace Barnes of Toledo, Mrs. Richard Joy and Mrs. Richard Joy of Detroit.

Mrs. E. M. Clark of Denver and Mrs. Eric Waite of Riverside were the guests of Mrs. Julia Wells.

Mr. C. H. Clark had Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Karl Struve of Seattle as his guests.

Mrs. Victor Dewey had Mrs. J. R. MacCartney, Mrs. Frank Bigelow, and Mrs. Patton of Philadelphia as her guests.

ON THE GOLF COURSE

This week has been a very active one at the course—more golfers than ever before. Roger Kelly, present state amateur champion, played in a foursome including J. E. French, his partner, against Milton Hicks and J. W. McAllister. French and Kelly won easily, as they were 8 under par going to the seventeenth hole. Roger Kelly was mentioned as a contender for the Walker Cup team. He led the field in the qualifying round at Portland this past summer and later won the State event at Del Monte.

Highlights from the golfing front: Mrs. R. DeLaité, Minneapolis, had a fine 39 playing with Mrs. Thos. O'Donnell and Mrs. H. H. Timken. Mrs. B. T. Rosenthal, Chicago, mother of Elaine Rosenthal, one of our golfing champions, had a nice 50 for the nine. Miss Armstrong, who hails from Chicago and is on the Glenview team, has been playing close to par, in fact, her last round of 36 is to be congratulated.

We understand J. E. French, San Francisco, had a neat 71; Al Brigger, Seattle, 72 and promises to do better as soon as Bill Yeaman leaves. Bill had a 71. Al must be a money player. C. H. Clarke, Seattle, had as his best of the week a 41.

Seen daily taking lessons from Pro, Geo. Howard: Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Ring, Los Angeles; Mr. and Mrs. Hamrick, Seattle; Mrs. Cook, New York; Mrs. Chas. Correll, Palm Springs; Mr. Strow, Seattle; Al Brigger, Seattle; Mr. Weinstein, San Francisco; Miss Dera Marsh of film fame; Mr. Whitney, San Francisco; C. H. Clarke, Seattle, and numerous others.

Some interesting twosomes: Joe Penner and Fr. Lehane; Karl Kumppe, Long Beach, H. G. Dorsett, Long Beach.

Foursomes: Mrs. J. B. Levie, Denver, Colo., Mrs. J. Kann, Youngstown, Ohio; Mr. Lloyd Simon, New York. Mrs. M. Lipper, Los Angeles, Miss Marie Lovell, Long Beach, with 35 and 39, one of Southern California's outstanding golfers. D. B. Morgan.

Winter Vacationers From Many States Attend Bridge Luncheon

This week's regular bridge luncheon at the Desert Inn attracted many winter vacationers from other states. Seen around the array of bridge tables were:

Mrs. Julia Carnell, Dayton, Ohio; Mrs. John Easton, Vancouver, British Columbia; Mrs. Clark B. Wheeler, Mrs. H. L. Hansen, Mrs. W. R. Thompson, Chestnut Hills, Mass.; Mrs. Geo. McNear, Petaluma; Mrs. Alfred Benson and Mrs. Martha Benson of Chicago; Mrs. T. M. C. Belyea, Mrs. C. F. Prentiss, Sacramento; Mrs. Virginia Cross, Mrs. J. P. Dearasaugh, Cleveland; Miss Carrie Cahill, Mrs. C. A. White and Mrs. A. C. Bandall of Banning; Mrs. H. L. Pendry, Mrs. Archie Linkletter, Mrs. A. R. Wilson, Mrs. Chas. W. Tanner, Miss Grace Walch, and Miss Regina Walsh of Port Huron, Mich.; Mrs. F. C. Moeller and Mrs. G. A. Reichardt, of Chicago.

ANOTHER NEW BUICK SOLD BY DESERT INN GARAGE

Henry Wick, winter resident of the village, has just purchased a beautiful new 1938 "81" model Buick sedan from the Desert Inn Garage, local Buick distributors.

The fine car is a Whistler gray, four-door sedan.

Competition at the putting green is keen these days. Warren Pinney dropped in and got a few dimes from the boys . . . Thos. O'Donnell and L. DeGraff are holding their own and H. H. Wright, Salem, Ohio, usually furnish the competition for all comers.

Our weekly suggestion for better scoring will be the sand iron: Golfers today are saving shots owing to better tools and knowledge of how to use them. The sand blaster has taken the place of the niblick. The explosion shot is being discontinued. Instead most shots played from traps are outside in shots. That is really the cut shot. Use a more open stance, feet closer than usual, and open the face of your sandiron slightly. Then swing the club through instead of making any extra effort of continuing down into the sand. You play this shot as you would a shot from a down hill lie. The pros today are playing cut shots with more momentum and swing than ever before. This shot can also be played where stop is needed for short shots from the fairway.

Supervisors Invited To Chamber of Commerce Luncheon Monday

All five of Riverside's supervisors have been invited, along with their wives, to be the guests of the Palm Springs Chamber of Commerce next Monday noon at luncheon.

Later the supervisors will inspect the proposed boundaries of the city of Palm Springs. Petition for incorporation is to be presented to the supervisors on Feb. 7.

Dr. Franz Buerger, local dentist, has returned to the village after a visit to Riverside of several days.

Your Idea

Your idea of a desert home may be something entirely different from "back home."

If so, possibly you would be interested in my New Modern California Desert Farm house built in a choice residential district.

It is complete—much of the furniture cannot be replaced. It is distinctive—individual.

The foreign type kitchen reflects the genius of the Architect while the baths and shower stalls of dull, soft-toned hand-made tile are unique and outstanding.

The Instructor Observes

By JOE RODE

Red Cross Instructor and Examiner (This is the third in a series of articles by Coach Joe Rode, dealing with the various phases of watermanship.)

The Cultural Development Through Discipline

By cultural development, I refer to the training of the moral and intellectual faculties. As steel, the finest of useable metals, is subjected to the severest tests to insure strength, so a youngster, during the formative stage, should be fortified for future life. Nowadays parents in their endeavor to give to children more than they possess, innocently make physical and moral weaklings of them.

A Story of Applied Psychology

I believe, I can clearly express my meaning by relating a story which hails directly from England:

Just before Christmas two doting parents entered an exclusive toy shop, with the object of their affection. Little Johnny spied a "hobby-horse" and his mind was made up to have it. Serene was the shop, until the parents decided to leave without the hobby-horse. Johnny surely would have had his "horse," but the price was beyond their means. It seems Johnny had been given everything he begged, cried and in last resort screamed for. For this reason, he just couldn't see WHY he was to be refused this toy. Closing time arrived and still Johnny was holding the "fort." During the interim he had been offered candy, toys, and as a matter of fact everything but the horse. I believe, if he had held out, the shop would have gladly stood half the expense. In desperation the shop management called a noted child psychologist, who was connected with the establishment. After hearing the circumstances pertaining to the case, he walked over to the sullen-faced youngster and whispered in his ear. Without a word, the youngster got off the "horse" and left with his parents. When questioned as to his marvelous method, he answered: "I told the boy if he didn't get off the horse immediately, I'd tan his hide so hard he wouldn't be able to sit down for a week." The moral of this story is, "Never mistake 'softness' for 'kindness.'"

Establishment of Self-reliance

One of the most interesting phases of adaptation is noted when the youngster starts to depend upon himself. Let us see how we can best accomplish this self-reliance: Every pool has a bank of steps leading into the water. To my mind, these steps are vitally important because they present progressive stages of height for jumping. As a building requires a solid foundation, so a youngster should be given the background of "being able to help himself." If a boy, my usual approach is to feel his muscle and praise his manliness. Then I inform him that I am teaching a little girl, and by gestures emphasize her smallness. With this means of comparison, I compel the boy to force himself to attempt things. Although afraid, which is the birth of self-discipline, I praise each progressive accomplishment, and proceed to a harder one.

Make the youngster walk the steps, first by hand and then alone. "Tots" love to explore, so utilize that fact, by walking hand in hand from place to place. Then wean the youngster from personal contact, and compel him to walk alone. As bricks are carefully laid in a foundation, so by progressive achievements, self-reliance is established.

Preliminary Diving

While this stage is merely jumping, at the start, it should be called "diving," because basically it contains the fundamentals of advanced diving. Starting from the lowest step, have the youngster make the progressive jumps for height. Repeat the jumps at each level until the "tot" clearly shows he has conquered the height element. Insist on immediate take-offs! In cases of hesitation, offer your hand to assist in the jump, and then drop back a step. As soon as the steps are conquered, proceed to give the youngster "diving for distance." Here again progressive stages may be introduced by gradually increasing the distance, as the child is caught "on the fly." These diving drills come under the heading of fun, so enjoy with the youngster, his pleasure. Coax first, but insist when the time demands. Remember! When a child doesn't do a certain thing, it isn't his fault; it's yours. Never lose patience, because it really is worth the time and trouble.

The Metamorphosis Produced

Through the medium of adaptation and of diving, the character of the youngster undergoes a decided change. Amazing self-reliance and courage are the important factors of this metamorphosis. To witness this change in ev-

Prominent Folk At the Palm Springs Hotel

Prominent visitors from all parts of the country have been recently enjoying lengthier stays at the hospitable Palm Springs Hotel. Among these are Mr. and Mrs. Simon Mayer and their son Richard, who celebrated his ninth birthday shortly after his arrival on the desert. Mr. Mayer is associated with the Continental Grain Company of Chicago.

Mr. and Mrs. O. A. Leach of the Leach and Gamble Company in Wahpeton, North Dakota, have returned for their second season's stay in Palm Springs.

Coming from the bay district were Mr. M. Cianciarulo, who is prominent in the insurance and real estate business in Oakland; Mrs. Opal Villa, who is enjoying another of her visits to Palm Springs, and who is also from Oakland; and Mr. and Mrs. F. D. Frank, who with Mrs. Sugar, Mrs. Frank's mother, own the I. Sugar Jewelry Co. in Berkeley. Just returning to San Francisco after a two weeks' stay in Palm Springs is Miss Claire Fitzgerald, also in the real estate business in San Francisco.

Among the guests registered from Los Angeles are: Mr. L. Schenck, Mrs. Ruth Cummings Rowland and Master Rowland, and Miss Jeanne Keller.

The Gerlinger family of Dallas, Oregon are expected to arrive in Palm Springs in the next few days. Included in their party will be Mr. and Mrs. Carl Gerlinger, their daughters and son-in-law, Mrs. Victor Williams and Mr. and Mrs. Johnny Kitzmiller, and their two sons, Al Gerlinger and Carl Gerlinger, Jr.

Mr. Gerlinger is president of the Dallas Machine and Locomotive Works, the Salem Iron Works, and the Klamath Machine and Locomotive Works. His two sons and two sons-in-law are all associated with him in his various plants.

Attorney and Mrs. Reuben Carlson of Tacoma, Washington, were house guests last week of Mr. and Mrs. Gus Parrish at the Palm Springs Airport. Mr. and Mrs. Rudy Mueller of Tacoma were also guests at the Parrish home. Mr. Mueller has the Buick agency in Tacoma and is rated one of the foremost Buick dealers of the nation. He also owns controlling interest in the Mueller-Harkness airport of Tacoma, where Gus Parrish learned to fly. Parrish, Carlson and Mueller were close friends in the northern city.

Library Notes

We are glad to learn that there is to be a Desert Museum in Palm Springs and hope that we can help in supplying the demand for reading material about the desert region. Among the books that the library now has on the subject are two by Edmund Jaeger "Denizens of the Desert" and "The California Deserts," the latter subtitled a 'handbook' and containing chapters on the geology of the desert, entomology, botany, etc. by J. Smeaton Chase is the little book on Palm Springs, "Our Araby," and one with descriptions of interesting trips to be made from here and called "California Desert Trails." There are several wildflower books—Thurston's "Wild Flowers of Southern California" an easy key to the names of flowers, ferns and trees; "A manual of Southern California Botany" by Philip Munz; "Western Wild Flowers" by Charles Francis Saunders; "Field Book of Western Wild Flowers" by Margaret Armstrong. We have one book on the birds of the Pacific Coast, two on cactus, and one by George Wharton James, "The Wonders of the Colorado Desert" which has some of all these subjects, together with amusing bits of history. A chapter on Palm Springs is especially interesting.

Governor Warns

relieved real estate of $80,000,000 in taxes each biennium, and gave real estate further relief of $62,000,000 now paid by public utility companies into county treasuries.

"Public schools in California have never been menaced," stated the Governor. "There isn't another state in the Union where schools were not closed during the recent depression because of lack of tax revenues."

"Now certain groups, among them wealthy individuals who do not wish to pay any taxes because their wealth is all invested in tax exempt securities, seek repeal of the sales tax, and would put in its place the single tax, again throwing the entire burden on homes and real estate," said the Governor. "The act is cunningly drawn, and will deceive some people, but I believe it will again be thrown out by the state supreme court as it was two years ago, because it was too indefinite."

Tourists in California pay to this state six and a half million dollars annually in sales and gasoline taxes, said Governor Merriam.

He said his administration inherited a deficit of $32,000,000 in 1935, and since then has balanced the state's budget, retiring $19,000,000 of that deficit and paying all the expenses, including retirement of some bonds. A large research organization predicted that his last budget would create a $79,000,000 deficit, but at the end of the biennium, June 30, 1937, found the budget balanced and all expenses paid. Before 1935 the state had to pay 5% interest on the warrants it issued, but now it pays only one per cent interest and can get all the money it wishes to borrow. Even New York banks are asking for California's bonds at from two to three per cent interest.

The Governor expects to have a surplus in the treasury of from six to ten million dollars by the end of this biennium and then proposes tax reduction.

He spoke of the tremendous burden of paying old-age pensions and maintaining the state institutions. There are more than 20,000 unfortunates in insane asylums alone, he said. Added to those are the thousands confined in prisons and other penal institutions, homes for feeble-minded, orphans homes, etc.

"You are members of the largest corporation in California," he told the Lions, "a corporation that spends between $400,000,000 and $500,000,000 annually; therefore it is your duty to see from what sources that money is obtained and how it is spent."

Many False Ideas About Local Radio Reception

Public opinion of radio reception in Palm Springs seems to be that it is difficult to listen to a radio receiver and enjoy the program. In fact a recent visitor to Palm Springs was heard making this statement on a radio program that was being received in Palm Springs.

Simpson's enabled visitors here to listen to all of the major football games over their public address system during the season. They also invite villagers to come to their shop to listen to any special programs they desire to hear when they are unable to listen to that particular station on their own receiver or have no radio set.

This would seem to prove the theory of the Simpson Radio and Frigidair Shop that a good receiver, properly installed will perform very well in this locality, rumors to the contrary.

A short wave station, XEER, at Hermosillo, Mexico, broadcasts from 9 a. m. to 7 p. m. daily on a frequency of 11.83 megacycles and is heard here consistently.

Federal Income Tax Collector Here Feb. 17

A Federal Income Tax Collector will be at the Palm Springs post office on February 17, from 8:30 a. m. to 4 p. m., to assist local taxpayers in making out their income tax returns. A permanent office for this district is located in the Federal building at Riverside.

Move to Stop Gambling In County

Rejecting the plea to "hold off two weeks, the Riverside county board of supervisors on Monday unanimously adopted District Attorney Earl Redwine's ordinance which is calculated to stop gambling in Riverside county.

The ordinance, written by District Attorney Redwine on the instigation of Chairman W. C. Moore "to put teeth in the state laws," not only strikes at all games of chance and slot machines on which money can be won, but classifies anyone operating, working or playing such games as guilty of a misdemeanor.

In addition, the act directs the district attorney to begin immediate abatement proceedings following a raid, classifying the premises of gambling operations as public nuisances.

After the building housing the gambling activities is declared as a nuisance and a writ of abatement issued for one-year period, if the building should again be opened without authorization, the persons would be in contempt and liable to fine of from $200 to $1000, or from one to seven months in jail, or both, it was asserted. Violation of the misdemeanor provisions for being involved in gambling activity carries a maximum fine of $600, jail term of seven months, or both.

Frank Shannon, Palm Springs representative on the advisory board of the Riverside County Chamber of Commerce, stated to the supervisors that Palm Springs citizens filed a petition with the supervisors in 1935 asking for strict enforcement of anti-gambling laws, "and that same feeling certainly prevails now, in 1938." Irwin Hayden of Riverside also urged passage of the measure.

The motions for adoption were made by Supervisor Ralph Stanfield with second voiced by Supervisor Walter V. Pittman.

Legion Party At Jack's Barn

Members of the local American Legion Post, accompanied by their wives, sweethearts, and other guests, had a jolly party at Jack's Barn Monday night. A number of notables were present, including George Hearst, son of the famous multi-millionaire publisher, William Randolph Hearst. This was the regular meeting night of the post.

The post is preparing two softball teams, one for men and another for girls, and they request that other organizations in town form their teams so that they may be challenged by the Legion.

Chamber Meets Tuesday Night

The regular monthly meeting of the Chamber of Commerce will be held Tuesday evening in the school auditorium. A number of important matters will be discussed, among them being incorporation and the airport. The public is invited to attend.

The Dawn Patrol Flies Again

The Dawn Patrol flew from the Palm Springs airport, Sunday morning to Dester Center, where the air pilots and their guests enjoyed breakfast on the desert. In the group were Pilots Colton Jackson, George Strebe and Clarence Macy. They were accompanied by Mrs. Jackson, Miss Betty O'fertelt and Raymond O'fertelt.

Radio Comedian In Village For Inspiration

Radio star, Bob Hope, comedy-chatterer who has been signed as a regular cast member of Hollywood Parade, has been a guest in the village this week trying to get a little inspiration in Palm Springs. He and Mrs. Hope have been stopping at El Mirador Hotel.

Should warm weather prevail the "almond blossom show" at Banning will be at its best within two or three weeks; or possibly earlier than three weeks hence.

The "show" is free to the public, and consists of hundreds of acres of almond trees in bloom.

Man Enters Harem

enced to death for the crime of laying eyes on the beauties of the harem.

Nazim Bey explained all this to Allan and told him that the women were all in a secluded part of the building. Allan says that under the circumstances he had no curiosity about the feminine contingent at all. The sheik was a villainous looking bandit and Allan didn't care to risk offending him in any way. Especially in the matter closest to a sheik's heart. But Fate ruled otherwise.

Nazim Bey and Allan were the last guests to leave. They had some trouble starting their antiquated Mercedes and were delayed in the road when Allan suddenly remembered that he had left his valuable cigarette case back in the banquet hall.

He ran back through the courtyard and not wishing to bother anyone he pushed aside the drapes over the door and entered the big room. And that's just what he never should have done.

The unveiled and slightly draped ladies of the harem were all over the place—enjoying the remains of the feast. Allan's eyes nearly popped out of his head. He says they looked like a Follies chorus enjoying a rest between the acts—but they didn't act like the chorus girls he had known back in America.

They took one frightened look at him and then let loose a crescendo of screams that made his hair stand on end and all ducked to the floor for cover under the many Turkish rugs.

Allan knew that he was up against it now. Nothing could excuse the fact that he had seen the sheik's favorites and he knew that he could be killed on the spot and no law would punish the murderer. He had committed the unpardonable offense in Turkey.

But he wanted that cigarette case so he rushed across the room—dodging in between various parts of screaming human anatomy—and retrieving the case, dashed out the door. Across the courtyard he sped. He could hear masculine cries behind him now, but he never looked around. Fortunately the motor of the Mercedes was running and he jumped into the driver's seat as Nazim Bey, pale under his dark complexion, urged him on. "Stop! In Allah's name—stop!" came the thundering voice of the sheik. He was out on a balcony above them brandishing a long rifle.

Allan didn't stop and the sheik fired. The bullet sang by Allan's ear and shattered the windshield in front of him but still he didn't stop. In fact Allan says he didn't stop until he was five miles away and then over a cup of Turkish coffee Nazim Bey explained that he was very lucky as the sheik had the reputation of being the best shot in the country.

Well, sir, Allan avoided the "Mountain of God" after that and was careful to always have a bodyguard with him anywhere near the sheik's bailiwick but he did see a real harem—even if it was only for a few seconds.

Thanks, Allan Wells, for a good story. I'll be sending you the ten piastres—I mean dollars—right out to Silver Springs and I'll see you all tomorrow morning on this page with a swell story from Charlie Heyler of Long Island City and until then, Allah Be With You.

Lava Beds of California, and the Grand Canyon of Colorado.

The museum will include complete exhibits of desert flora and fauna, geological displays of rock formations in the southeastern California desert, and exhibits of fossils found near Palm Springs. Historical exhibits will trace the story of Palm Springs from old mining days to its present resort status.

Of particular interest, Mr. Admiral believes, will be a display of Coahuilla Indian relics, traces of their ancient civilization, handicrafts, and mode of living, contrasted with the handwork of the present time.

Contributions to the museum's exhibits will be highly acceptable, Mr. Admiral states, particularly Indian relics, minerals, historical photographs and old maps, but they must be appropriate to this desert region.

The museum, located in the Plaza Arcade, will be open daily from 9 a. m. to 5 p. m. except Saturdays and Sundays, with no admission charge.

Tramway

Section of American Geophysical Union, Section of Hydrology, at which time the Western Interstate Snow Survey Conference also met. The Snow Survey Conference was my reason for being there.

It is interesting to me that a new public interest is developing in connection with the snow blanket that covers our higher elevations during the winter time. This is evidenced by the Friday evening broadcast of snow conditions up and down the state for the benefit of those who desire to spend week-ends on skiing parties.

During the discussions on snow, a Mr. Forrest Rhodes gave a talk on commercial sports at the state line points on Lake Tahoe and he gave us the information that soon there was to be built, a large resort hotel at Crystal Cove on Lake Tahoe and in conjunction with this there would be built an aerial tramway from Crystal Cove to Rife Peak, a distance of approximately two miles. It was the plan that the tramway would be equipped with cars with a capacity of 32 people each. The principal objective of those using the cars would be to ride up the mountain and return to the lake level on skis.

I thought of you when I listened to this report because you had suggested the aerial tram from Palm Springs to some point up on Mt. San Jacinto. I had thought of this aerial tramway for some time, but had visualized it from the Whitewater Ranch up the precipitous slope of San Jacinto mountain, as being a very spectacular route for the tramway. I am sure the progress of your project will be watched with a great deal of interest by a great many people.

Second Annual Palm Springs Rodeo Tomorrow and Sunday

2 Big Parades; Famous Riders And Movie Stars

Rodeo days come to Palm Springs tomorrow (Saturday) and Sunday, and the resort is at high pitch with Queen Pat Percival, champion cowboys of the world, wild Brahma and Mexican steers, bucking broncs, calf ropers, cow ponies and bulldoggers reigning supreme.

On both Saturday and Sunday there will be a big rodeo parade down Palm Canyon drive at 11 a. m. and in the line of march will be Sheriff Biscailuz' mounted posse of Los Angeles; Mary Rose Case, champion outdoor girl of California; cinema and radio stars, Amos n' Andy, Andy Devine, Gene Autry and the galaxy of nationally famed cowboys who have gathered here from ranches, from Wyoming to California.

Pat Percival, 1938 Palm Springs Rodeo Queen, will lead the parade followed by her court on horseback including Margaret Rogers, lady-in-waiting; Cynthia Shields, Theda Watson and Jane Hendrick.

Competition in bronc riding and other rodeo events will start at 1:30 p. m. at the Field Club. All box seats were sold out early in the week and additional seats have been constructed to take care of the big crowd.

Les Vance and Andy Jaurigue, superintendents of the Palm Springs Rodeo, have furnished all the stock for the big western show. Wild steers have been brought here from Old Mexico. Brahma steer which have never been ridden will get their baptism of carrying rough riders. Lightning fast calf ropers will swing their lariats. Bulldoggers will leap for long horned steers in the series of western events at the Field Club Saturday and Sunday. Champion cowboys will be here to add points to their national ranking, as the Palm Springs Rodeo like those at Cheyenne, Salinas and Pendleton, are affiliated with the Rodeo Association of America.

Officials of the Palm Springs Rodeo are: Art Manning, arena director; Clay Carr and Hugh Strickland, judges; Abe Lefton, announcer; Homer Holcombe and Jess Kell, famous rodeo clowns, will furnish the laughs for the spectators.

Among the nationally famed cowboys coming to Palm Springs to compete are: Everett Bowman, 1937 world champion; Turk Greenough, Jackie Cooper, Frankie Snyder, Smoky Snyder, Bobby Cooper, Canada Kid, Floyd Stillings, Stub Bartlemy. About sixty cowboys have entered the various events which include bronc riding, steer riding, calf roping, bulldogging, cowboy race and other events.

Advance ticket sales indicate the largest crowd ever to assemble at the

Palm Springs' 1938 Rodeo Queen

Miss Pat Percival, outstanding young California horsewoman, takes her throne as 1938 Queen of the Palm Springs Rodeo at the Palm Springs Field Club tomorrow (Saturday) and Sunday. The picture was snapped as she won the honor at last Sunday's Gymkhana. Queen Pat has won 15 trophies and scores of ribbons at horse shows, gymkhanas and rodeos all over the country.—Chuck Abbott Photo.

Rodeo Queen Chosen Last Sunday

Miss Pat Percival was selected as 1938 Palm Springs Rodeo Queen at the Rodeo Queen Gymkhana at the Field Club last Sunday. A committee of local cowboy judges, including Johnny Vance, Jim Deevers, Tex Miller and Ernie McDonald picked Miss Percival as winner of the queen's contest based upon her superior horseback riding ability as well as costume and outdoor type of beauty.

McDonald Stables won the trophy donated by Travis Rogers to the ranch or stable scoring the most points in the gymkhana. Smoke Tree Ranch Stables won second and Deep Well Guest Ranch stables third.

Results of the gymkhana last Sunday:

Ladies Three Gaited class for novice in English Saddle—Miss Betty McDonald, first.

Pack Horse Race—Ernie McDonald and Johnny Gardiner of McDonald Stables, first; Jim Deevers and partner of Rogers Stables, second.

Bending Race for Dudes—Arthur Borden, first; Thelma Watson, second; Miss Tommy Lipps, third. Time: 12 seconds.

Bending Race for Cowboys—Johnny Vance, Deep Well Guest Ranch Stables, first; John Gardiner, McDonald Stables, second; Don Scriven, third.

Cowboys Run and Ride Race—Joe Barnes, Smoke Tree Ranch Stables, first; Ernie McDonald, McDonald Stables, second; Don Scriven, third.

Potato Race for Dudes—Miss Pat Percival, McDonald Stables, first; Miss Jimmy Rogers, Rogers Stables, second; Jean Fulford, third.

Potato Race for Cowboys—Don Scriven, first; Ernie McDonald, second.

Musical Chairs for Dudes—Won by Miss Pat Percival, McDonald Stables. Musical Chairs for Cowboys—Won by Joe Barnes, Smoke Tree Ranch Stables.

Elimination Jumps—Miss Cynthia Shields of Deep Well Guest Ranch stables, on Lucky, first; Johnny Gardiner, second; Bobby Patterson on Buddy, third.

Barro Chariot Race—Travis Rogers, first; Frank Bogert, second.

Calftroing—Jimmy Laycock, Charles Farrell Stables, first; Johnny Vance, second; Barton Carter, third. Time: 21.3 seconds.

Children will be admitted for 25 cents.

Governor Frank F. Merriam of California has been invited by the Palm Springs Lions Club to be their guest at the rodeo.

Bill Boyd, western screen star, and member of the cast of his new picture, "Cassidy of Bar-20" will participate in the rodeo activities. The new picture will be previewed at a Palm Springs Theatre on Saturday evening.

Jack's Barn Sponsors Famous Cowboy

Jack Bryant, proprietor of the famous night-spot, "Jack's Barn," is sponsoring Jimmy Hazen, champion cowboy, who will ride bareback bucking bronchos and wild bulls at the rodeo tomorrow and Sunday. Jimmy Hazen has won many first and second prizes at some of the foremost rodeos of the nation, and he is a runner-up for the national championship.

Mrs. Dudley and Mrs. Fewel, of the Joshua Tree Studio, reports that Miss Helen Eadie, Californian flower stylist and party decorator, paid them a visit Tuesday. Miss Eadie set up several charming flower display effects at the studio where she contacts her party clientells.

Local Citizens Donate Prizes

IOWANS ANNOUNCE PICNIC REUNION

The biggest event of the year for the Iowans in California is the mammoth picnic reunion which is to be held all day, Saturday, February 26, in Lincoln Park, Los Angeles.

If rainy that date the picnic goes over one week to March 5. Attorney Arvin B. Shaw, Jr., president of the Iowa Association of Southern California, which sponsors the reunions, will be in charge. A large section of the park is laid out to conform to old home state and the counties are all placed as on the map for registration and meeting friends.

Hot coffee will be served free to all who buy the souvenir badge. A splendid program of music and addresses will follow the dinner.

Our Town's Future

(Just Another Editorial)

Cathedral City is making justifiable progress.

Little did we realize a year ago what capable civic leaders we had in our midst, until the formation of a Chamber of Commerce got them together. Then we realized that here were men who stood high in the civic leadership of many cities of importance in Southern California and elsewhere, and who helped solve problems in those cities. Some of these leaders guided the destinies of such cities as San Diego, Orange, Balboa, San Pedro and other places.

Individuals alone can do little for our town. But an organization of individuals devoted to the welfare of a town commands respect. In the Chamber of Commerce we have that organization. It should have the support of every resident. Its faults should be overlooked, and its efforts appreciated. It will do many worthwhile things for this community.

It should be encouraged. It is easy to criticize. It is not always a virtue to do so. "It is shame and folly to judge a man without a hearing." So sayeth the Good Book. The same can apply to judging an organization. Instead of criticizing let us all do what we can in our sphere first.

Many homes would look a lot brighter if repainted in appropriate desert colors. How about the rocks between your lot and the pavement? Why not rake them off and make a rock fence or rock garden of them? How about the planting of some oleander bushes, palo verde trees or orange or grapefruit trees? Why not plant a row of bamboo or tamarisk trees around that part of the lot where the junk accumulates?

Palo verde trees can be obtained free for the asking. So can tamarisk cuttings.

Some dingy colored buildings if painted white with blue trimmings and yellow windows would look charming. The owners would feel happier for the effort. We can all do something for our town. Let's do it now.

Aimless Club Starts Big Program

Meeting of the Aimless Luncheon Club was held Tuesday at the Totem Pole Cafe. About a dozen citizens attended. Several topics were discussed, including a new school for Cathedral City, a location for it and the road matters.

E. F. Reilly had a petition drawn up in regards to selling 100 gold notes at $10.00 each to finance the building of the community hall and fire station.

To date 25 signers have agreed to purchase notes. Mr. Reilly has turned one petition over to C. S. Cobb, and one to W. R. Hillery. He asks that all property owners interested in seeing the community hall and fire house built please get in touch with C. S. Cobb or W. R. Hillery.

ROOSEVELT ACTS IN APPOINTING WHITE AS BANNING POSTMASTER

President Roosevelt has sent to the Senate the nomination of John E. White to be postmaster of Banning, according to word received from Washington, D. C.

Mr. White, who has been acting postmaster for some time, formerly occupied the position of city clerk. He resigned the municipal position to take over the postmastership, following resignation of Homer J. King, former postmaster, who located at Palm Springs.

NORTH DAKOTANS ANNOUNCE WINTER PICNIC

Everyone from North Dakota is included in the call to the annual picnic reunion in Sycamore Grove Park, all day, Saturday, Feb. 5th. Judge Frank P. Allen, the new president, will preside. Secretary B. H. Harrold will be in charge of information and badges. Hot coffee will be served.

The program will follow the dinner hour and will include brief addresses and music.

Apollo Duo Visit Relatives; In C. C.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Well, of Los Angeles, (The Apollo Duo) visited Mr. Wells' sister, Mrs. E. H. Brandt, for a few days this week.

For many years Mr. and Mrs. Wells piloted the Apollos up and down, back and forth, across, and through Canada, Panama, Australia, New Zealand and the Virgin Islands. By general consent their organization has occupied a place of pre-eminence among the popular musical companies of the platform.

Mr. and Mrs. Wells, in their Duo program, use a wide variety of instruments in making up a most interesting program. They have a wealth of repertoire at their disposal and a splendid reputation, based upon many years of experience, making their appearances very valuable and their services are invariably sought for return engagements.

FOREST CONSERVATIONISTS WARN OF MENACE TO PINES

Two of California's leading forest conservationists, S. B. Shaw, regional forester of the United States Forest Service and W. V. Benedict, senior forester in charge of the California office of Plant Disease Control of the Bureau of Entomology and Plant Quarantine, announced recently that unless immediate concerted action was taken against the menace of blister rust in this state, little hope could be held for the protection of 2 million acres of native sugar pine valued at more than $50,000,000. The foresters' announcement was made after reviewing a study of blister rust disease centers discovered in northern California last summer and fall.

"Blister rust is far more serious than most people realize," Regional Forester Shaw emphasized. "Every forest-minded citizen must give his support to the control of blister rust if the beautiful sugar pine timber lands of the state are going to be saved from this deadly disease."

GROWING

With Cathedral City

• We were glad of the opportunity to have given Cathedral City a Grocery Store when the need arose, and ever since we established the grocery store here it has been our aim to keep abreast of the times.

• As the community has grown, so we have increased our stock and our service, and will continue to do so in the future.

• The people of Cathedral City demand quality merchandise. Therefore we feature Iris Brand canned goods; keeping our margin of profit down to the lowest possible point consistent with fair business practices.

• In our meat department we have No. 1 U. S. Government Inspected Steer Beef, and all other meats on a par with this high standard.

Business, Residential and Acreage

I have been in the real estate business in Balboa since 1925, and in business in Palm Springs the past three years. I came to Cathedral City because I could see the possibilities here for future development. This is rapidly becoming a community of nice homes and apartment houses, and is one of the best residential areas on the desert, having one hour more of sunshine.

Real estate prices are low here now, but are rapidly increasing. The investor can make no mistake by investing in Cathedral City.

Indio Man Killed In Crash

C. L. Wood, 35, of Indio was almost instantly killed when struck by a car while crossing Highway 99 to the 1000 Palm service station south of Indio, at 7 o'clock Sunday night.

Harry Billado, Beaumont, Tex., driver of the car which killed Wood, was not held by officers of the California Highway patrol, who investigated, but was requested to remain in Indio pending the inquest.

Wood had stopped his car just across from the service station and a passenger in the car had crossed to the station. After a few moments, Wood also attempted to cross the highway and apparently failed to see the oncoming car.

Officers Wesley Patton and Ralph Bent of the California Highway patrol, who investigated, reported that Wood's wife and family lived in Cucamonga. Billado was alone in his vehicle at the time of the accident.

Excellent Progress On the Aqueduct, Report Shows

Hard-rock miners, working a half mile beneath the surface of the earth, blasted out a block of granite which completed the excavation of the tenth mile of the 13-mile San Jacinto tunnel, according to a report received in the Los Angeles office of F. E. Weymouth, general manager of the Metropolitan Water District.

With exactly three miles of stubborn rock remaining to be excavated in the tunnel, work is now being pushed ahead at four working faces in the tunnel. Water District engineers stated last week that excavation progress in the tunnel has been materially increased during the last few days because of the two additional headings that have been put into operation at the foot of the Lawrence adit.

Location near the center of the 13-mile tunnel, this mile-long adit, giving access to the main tunnel, has just recently been completed. Tunnel crews are now working east and west from the bottom of this adit as well as from the Cabazon and Potrero shafts. The tunnel is being excavated to a diameter of 18 feet, large enough to accommodate a full size locomotive.

In addition to the ten miles of the tunnel that have been excavated, last week's construction report stated that more than five and a half miles of the tunnel have been lined with concrete and completed. Placed with huge machines which pump the concrete into special steel forms, the smooth concrete lining is 18 inches thick.

The San Jacinto tunnel is the second longest of the 38 tunnels on the 392-mile Metropolitan Aqueduct system, and will be the last of the tunnels to be completed. With a total length of 108 miles, 105 miles of which already have been excavated, this is one of the largest hard-rock tunnel jobs in construction history.

Meet Your Son

By ERNEST ANDREW ROGERS
National Child Welfare Authority;
President, Montezuma School
for Boys

Generally, the "poor sport" is the boy who wants so desperately to win that he can't stand defeat. He can't give up gracefully. He "can't take it." He's a sorehead.

He claims the rules are unfair, the umpire is biased, or the other fellow cheated. He hates to admit failure whether it's in his school work or in his games. He always has an alibi.

You can't help feeling sorry for him, for he's deeply unhappy, but since that manly ability to "take it," win or lose, is a prime necessity for successful, happy living, something must be done about it.

Contact with other boys, along with the general process of growing up, helps to straighten out the kinks of poor sportsmanship in a youngster. If he plays competitive games, he will find he has to stick to the rules of the game whether he likes the way it is going or not. The crowd won't tolerate a poor sport.

A distorted idea of the importance of winning can only result in a distorted sense of general values. Obviously, then, a lad needs to be taught that sportsmanship is the way the game's played, not the score.

The boy who lopes into first place without any great effort, it needs to be pointed out, is often not as great a hero to the grandstands as the boy who places third by exerting superhuman effort. The crowd invariably applauds the boy who comes in last—but who stays with it long after any hope of placing is gone.

Unless your boy learns his lessons in sportsmanship thoroughly, he cannot fail to be at a disadvantage throughout life. He will spend so much time feeling sorry for himself that he'll miss half the fun of living. So don't trust entirely to time and the other boys to make him see the light. Explain to him that there is a certain amount of failure in every life; that scarcely anything of any consequence has ever been achieved or invented except after initial failures. Failure, in itself, does not matter—if it is utilized as a stepping stone to later success.

Never ridicule a boy for poor sportsmanship, particularly before a crowd. Talk with him later, when he has had a chance to cool off a bit. Impress on him this verity, which he can prove for himself.

The quickest way to forget a failure—and to make others forget it—is first to admit it, and then to redeem it at the earliest opportunity.

The fellow who wrote about the silent watches of the night never heard a dollar one on the dresser.—Richmond (Va.) Register.

JOHN PHILLIPS SHOWS GRAPHIC PICTURES OF GERMANY, RUSSIA

Germany and Russia of today were pictured to the Riverside Lions club by Senator John Phillips of Banning through the lens of a candid camera which the Riverside county legislator carried with him on a three-months tour through Europe last summer, says the Riverside News.

The pictures became so "candid" at one spot along the way, in Kiev, Russia, that he was detained for an hour by police until he proved his credentials and was permitted to go on his way. He found that the Russians do not bar cameras but forbid the photographing of so many objects and scenes that a camera fan is tremendously handicapped.

Particularly graphic were the color photographs of Berlin and Nuremberg, Germany during the visit of Mussolini to Germany and during the party convention of 400,000 Nazis. The pictures revealed the brilliant red Nazi banners which line the streets for a parade for Hitler, and also portrayed the bright and varied uniforms of the numerous armed and unarmed forces of Germany.

Pictures photographed in Russia showed the disrepair into which the beautiful buildings of the once-resplendent Moscow have been allowed to fall, and the squalid conditions of the Russian cities where dozens of persons are forced to live in quarters sufficient for one family.

He said that only to a person visiting Russia can the futility of the vast transformation of the country from an agricultural one to an industrial state, be explained. Masses of peasants have crowded into the cities to live and work under conditions to which they are wholly unaccustomed.

"Russia is giving everything to its youth, hoping to realize from the rising generation what it has failed to obtain from the present," he said. "It is likely that far greater results will be obtained from the new generation if the Soviets can get by without another revolution."

He found throughout Russia a definite "build-up" for Stalin, indicating that the ruthless dictator is seeking to ascend to the deified place held by Lenin. Whereas it formerly was "the party of Lenin," it now is "the party of Lenin and Stalin," he found. Stalin's photographs, often large enough to extend from the floor to the ceiling of a high room, are to be seen throughout the land.

In Germany he found a better spirit among the people, chiefly because they are obtaining better food.

First snowfall of the winter in the resort areas of the San Jacinto mountains brought three inches to Idyllwild when the storm cleared Thursday morning. This was the first snow since March 28 last year.

At this time in 1937, there was five feet of snow on the ground at Idyllwild, frequent storms having followed the season's initial snowfall on Dec. 4.

GRAND JURY TO HELP WITH COUNTY BUDGET

The possibility of the grand jury's taking an active part in drafting the county fiscal budget next July became known when four members of the inquisitorial body sat in with the supervisors Monday.

In introducing the grand jurors to his fellow supervisors, Chairman W. C. Moore commented that he has asked them to appear whenever possible "and help us with the budget problems next summer."

Present at the session were J. L. Alabaster, H. A. Booth and Mrs. E. B. Parker of Riverside and Mrs. Agnes L. McEuen of Hemet.

Today America says "Good-bye to the melting pot!" The era of prodigious expansion when armies of alien immigrants poured into this country half a million to a million strong from 1880 up to the depression years, is now past history. Today the tide has passed its crest, as the just released figures of the United States Department testify. During the last fiscal year, only 53,000 immigrants gained entry into the Land of Promise. This was a mere drop of seasoning in the Melting Pot compared to the gigantic legion of more than one and a quarter million immigrants admitted in 1907. Though America's period of geographical expansion has doubtless passed its apex, there remain open great, new fields to test the nation's mettle—conquering unemployment, enriching purchasing power, and lifting our living standards ever higher. Have no doubt of it, America still has great epics of expansion and growth to be written within her own borders!—Van Nuys Tribune.

WORLD'S TENNIS CHAMPIONS MEET HERE FEBRUARY 6

Vines and Perry, Senior and Bell, Singles, Doubles

If ever the old adage that "a champion is born, not made," rang true in sports, it holds a logical explanation for the rise of Ellsworth Vines to the topmost pinnacle of the net world. The tall and powerful 26 year old champion from Pasadena, California, was practically born with a racket in his hand. His father, an enthusiastic tennis player, taught young Ellsworth the rudiments of the game at a tender age.

Vines disclosed as much relating plans for the resumption of his bitter feud with Fred Perry of England in a "show down" fight for the world's professional tennis championship at the Palm Springs Racquet Club, Sunday, February 6.

Walter Senior, Canadian National champion, and Berkeley Bell, former National Intercollegiate champion, will also be matched at the Racquet Club on that day. Vines and Senior will meet Perry and Bell in a double set.

Perry and Vines are involved in a sizzling battle to determine the superiority between them, with the ultimate victor winning the right to carry the standard of the professional champion against an amateur to be lured from the ranks of the simon pures next season, it was revealed.

Although Vines swung a racket soon after he learned to walk, it wasn't until 1926 that he entered his first tournament as a junior, and not until the following year that he started on the road to the top. A naturally hard hitter, Vines in his early career found that this tendency cost him many a match that he otherwise might have won had he been better able to control his strikes.

But Mercer Beasley, the famed coach, took him in hand in 1927 and consolidated his strokes and Vines was sent to the Pacific Northwest to become tournament seasoned. He ran off with the Canadian national junior crown in that first campaign and returned home with confidence in his own game, although that confidence was not justified until 1930 when he launched his bid for national fame.

Vines became one of the few unknowns to blast his way into the sacred First Ten of the country in his first season on Eastern turf courts when he scaled his way to No. 8 in the national list in 1930. He started the East talking by defeating Frank Shields and Frank Hunter to win the Metropolitan grass court championship, then won his way to the finals of famous old Seabright, where his opponent was brilliant young Sidney Wood. Wood found one weakness that the hard-hitting Californian had never bothered his head about, namely the softshot game. Wood defeated him with this baffling style and, as Vines relates it, the rest of the Eastern season became a nightmare as opponent after opponent exploited that vital weakness.

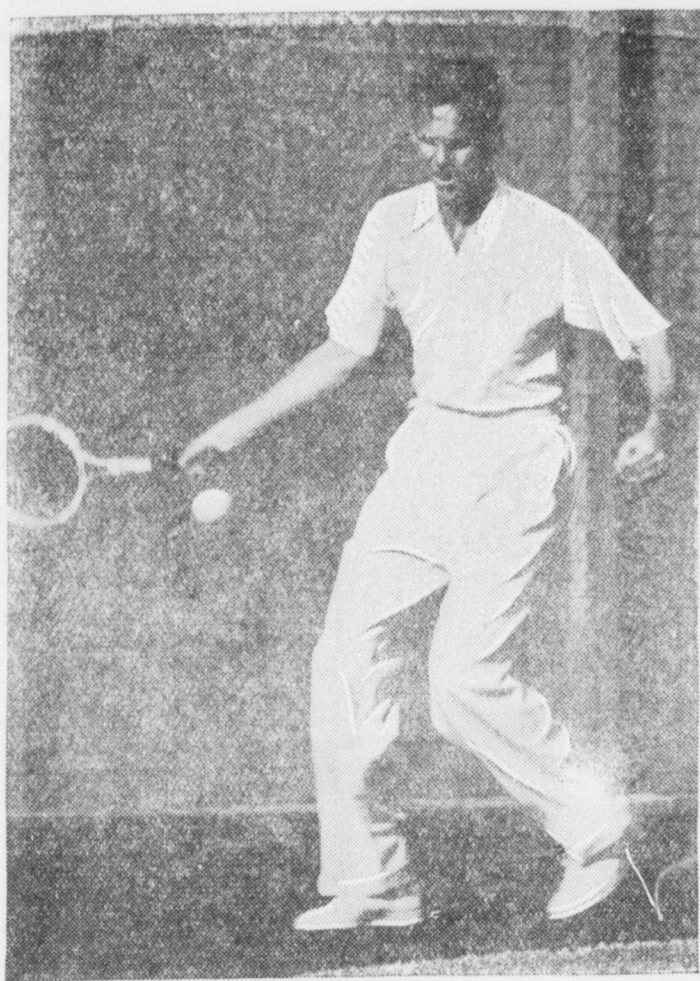

He climaxed the year by returning home to his native hard courts in Los Angeles and winning the Pacific Southwest with victories over three first ten players, Wilmer Allison, Cliff Sutter and Gregory Mangin.

But the court had hardly grown cold from the final match of that tournament when Vines went into a huddle with his old teacher, Beasley, to construct a defense for the soft shot game. He learned his lesson well, for in the following year Vines compiled one of the greatest records ever made by an American player. From the Houston, Texas, tournament in March to the Pacific Coast championships in September, Vines was not once defeated in singles, although he defaulted one match because of illness. Fourteen straight tournaments were included in that record, topped by the national championships at Forest Hills, where he defeated Fred Perry and George Lott to capture the American crown.

On the strength of that record, Vines was hailed as a new Tilden! Spearhead of the Davis Cup squad, he was sent to Europe by the U. S. L. T. A. and the youthful Vines maintained his brilliant record in his first year as an internationalist by losing only one match in Davis Cup play—that to Borotra of France, in the final match.

His victims included Ricardo Tapia of Mexico, Harry Hopman and Jack Crawford of Australia, Baron Von Cram and Daniel Prenn of Germany and the then world's No. 1 amateur, Henri Cochet of France. But though Vines performed brilliantly as an individual, Uncle Sam's team could not regain the cup.

Wimbledon, emblematic of the world's championship, was Vines' at the first asking, the only player ever to win the classic on his initial try. Henri Cochet came to the United States especially to wreck revenge on Ellsworth Vines, world's professional tennis champion, 1934-1937, who will meet Fred Perry, world's amateur champion, 1934-1937, in the professional tennis match series to decide the championship of the world, at the Racquet Club in Palm Springs, on Sunday, February 6.

Vines in the American championship, but Vines successfully defended his title by defeating the Frenchman, 6-4, 6-4, 6-4. The match took only 55 minutes to complete.

That was one of the two matches that stand out as examples of "perfect" tennis in the career of Vines. Cochet played well but was powerless against the dynamic blasts that exploded off the racket of the young Californian. The other great example of flawless, inspired, tennis was furnished by Vines in his meeting with Perry in the Pan Pacific Auditorium last year before a brilliant audience of 15,000 Hollywood movie celebrities and

Los Angeles tennis enthusiasts, when, against a Perry who fought well and played his own spectacular type of game, Vines again rose to the heights and scored a straight set victory.

During the winter of 1932, the year that left him undisputed king of the amateur world, Vines married and went to Australia for the season there. The strain of playing the year 'round had its telling effect, for in the Wimbledon final, he lost to Jack Crawford of Australia after once again defeating Henri Cochet in the semi-final. In Paris fatigue caught up with him and he lost to Austin and Perry in the Davis Cup, came home to bow out of the American nationals at Forest Hills.

But just as he had come home that year in 1930 to learn his lesson in combating the drop-shot, so he came home to learn his lesson again. He tossed his tennis racket into the discard, took up golf. That winter he signed up for a professional tour and in January came back to the court against Bill Tilden determined to once again play the game he knew he was capable of. It worked. Of 80 matches with Tilden, Vines won 61. That tour with the "Old Master" taught him more. It taught him steadiness, for Tilden blasted the ball back at him so often that Vines was forced to steady down and earn his points.

Just as he scaled the heights in amateur ranks, so Vines became kingpin of the professionals in his first year. He invaded London and won the official pro crown at Wimbledon, defeating Hans Nusslein, the famed German pro, in the final round. In 1934 Vines defended his professional laurels against both Cochet and Martin Plaa of France and routed them both, beating Cochet ten times in a row and Plaa 8 out of 10 matches.

The turning professional of Stoeffen and Lott in 1935 added impetus to the pro situation and Vines and Tilden toured with the two doubles sharks. Vines shellacked stoeffen 19 consecutive times before Stoeffen finally halted him, while Vines and Tilden surprised their foes by taking 18 out of 27 doubles matches against the then world's champions. Vines went abroad to successfully defend his world's championship. The 1936 season was a repetition of those victories, with Vines and Tilden invading Japan, China and the Philippines.

Came then the first serious challenge to Vines' right to the professional throne, a fight that is smoldering on into the 1938 tour that has come to be known as the "show down" battle for the championship.

Fred Perry, whose record as an amateur stamped him as one of the "greats" of the sport, turned professional in 1937 and signed for a tour with Vines.

Opening in Madison Square Gardens, they broke all former tennis records for gate receipts and crowds by drawing 17,500. Perry won the first three matches from the tour, but it was against a sick Vines, a Vines who forced himself to play with a high temperature on courage alone. But the end of their American tour found Vines winning by a count of 33 to 30 matches. The grand tour had broken all total attendance records and receipts and the two were so close they hated to give up!

England beckoned them for "Coronation matches" and after eleven matches in England, Perry had won 7 and Vines but 4—making their grand total for the year exactly 37 matches apiece.

It was an amazing ending for two great players, but both are firmly resolved that their current battle will not be as even. Vines, having corrected minor physical ailments during a lay-off last summer, is back with a serve more bombastic than ever, and a stamina he hopes will carry him to a clean sweep of their matches.

Perry himself admits his game has been improved from fifteen to twenty per cent, and the English star, now married to Helen Vinson of the films, envisions a career in the movies after first establishing himself as the undisputed champion of the world.

Hence the stake is large and the battle looms fierce when the two greatest players of the present day clash in their match here February 6.

Richard S. Johnson is now managing the department of tires, lubrication and gasoline for Art Moran at Faure's Garage, corner Indian avenue and Andreas Road. Mr. Johnson has had seven years' experience in California.

FRED ASTAIRE BRINGS MUSIC AND ROMANCE IN HIS NEW COMEDY

The Gershwin's latest songs, a group of novel dance numbers, and a riotous P. G. Wodehouse story have been blended into the framework of Fred Astaire's new starring film with George Burns and Gracie Allen for RKO Radio, "A Damsel in Distress," which is playing today and Saturday at the Palm Springs Theatre.

A big English castle forms the setting for much of the swift action and delightful romance of the story, which deals with the adventurous love affair of an American dancer and a titled British girl. Excitement and complications abound in the plot due to the conflicting desires of the friends and relations of the two principals, and to the well-meant efforts of the girl's servants to run her romance for her.

Astaire's terpsichorean role gives him opportunities for five brilliant and novel dancing routines, which, along with the sparkling tunes by the late George Gershwin and Ira Gershwin, help to make the picture one of the season's most entertaining offerings.

Burns and Allen portray Astaire's solicitous press agents, and Joan Fontaine, as the English girl in the case, heads the notable cast of the film, which also includes Reginald Gardiner, Ray Noble, Montagu Love, Constance Collier, Harry Watson and Jack Carson.

"TOVARICH" AT PALM SPRINGS THEATRE, SUNDAY AND MONDAY

After a run of several years in New York, London, Paris and various other world capitals as a stage play, "Tovarich," a comedy dealing with a Grand Duchess and a Prince who were exiled from their native Russia by the revolution, now comes to the screen. It will have its first local showing at the Palm Springs Theatre Sunday and Monday, Jan. 30 and 31.

"The Drunkard" Continues at El Paseo

Because of popular public demand, "The Drunkard" will continue for at least another week, and possibly indefinitely, at the El Paseo Theatre. The famous play of the gay nineties, introduced first by P. T. Barnum, is now showing nightly at Palm Springs. The show made a tremendous hit every night for five years in Los Angeles, two years at the Texas Centennial in Dallas, and two seasons at the San Diego Exposition. The show starts at 9 o'clock sharp.

Headed by Neeley Edwards as master of ceremonies, who was rated the outstanding entertainer of the Texas Centennial, the same cast which was in Texas and San Diego is now in Palm Springs.

WRESTLING IN SAN BERNARDINO COMES

TO AN END

Wrestling in San Bernardino—and the Citrus Belt—will sing its swan song Friday night, when the National Orange Show stadium becomes the scene of grappling hostilities for the final time.

The stadium will be torn out shortly in order to make more space for advertising purposes for the Orange Show.

Bowling
League
Score

The Merchants League standings remained the same as all six teams battled to hold their position. The fast Electric Five strengthened their lead by winning 3 points from Smoke Tree Ranch. Bill Seaton was the main attraction with his high series of 577 and high game of 210.

The Safeway boys were only able to split 4 points with the El Paseo bowlers and the Bank of America holding fast to the cellar position, also split 4 points with Coca Cola.

The great mystery this week: How can anyone bowl a snappy game of 73? Ask Milt Hicks.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE CHURCHES

"We have known and believed the love that God hath to us. God is love; and he that dwelleth in love dwelleth in God, and God in him." These words of John are the Golden Text in the Lesson-Sermon on "Love" on Sunday in all branches of The Mother Church, The First Church of Christ, Scientist, in Boston, Massachusetts.

Among the Bible citations in the Lesson-Sermon are these verses from Matthew: "These twelve Jesus sent forth, and commanded them, saying, Go not into the way of the Gentiles, and into any city of the Samaritans enter ye not: But go rather to the lost sheep of the house of Israel. And as ye go, preach, saying, The kingdom of heaven is at hand. Heal the sick, cleanse the lepers, raise the dead, cast out devils: freely ye have received, freely give."

A correlative passage from "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy, states: "Our Master said to every follower: 'Go ye into all the world, and preach the gospel to every creature! ... Heal the sick! ... Love thy neighbor as thyself! ... It was this theology of Jesus which healed the sick and the sinning.'"

Cheerio

A CHEERFUL
LITTLE EARFUL

(By Philip Kasper)

CHEERIO SAYS:

From the time you are born
'Till you ride in a hearse,
There's nothing so bad
It couldn't be worse.

For if rheumatism in your limbs
At times your happiness beddins,
Do not frown or fret and cuss—
What if you were an octopus?

Be patient when your throat it sore;
You haven't any cause to roar.
It's like that, should make you laugh—
Be thankful, you are no giraffe.

If the toothache bothers you,
Remember that your teeth are few;
Compared to those, which we remark,
Are on the jaw bone of a shark.

When bunions lump your toes and feet
Bear them with resignation sweet;
For you are fortunate, indeed—
Suppose you were a centipede?

This is just our simple plan
For you try it, since you can,
And if it doesn't do you good,
We're sorry, but we thought it would.

Those Internal Workings
A duchess, I know, named Perkins
Had a great fondness for gherkins.
We went to a tea
And she ate twenty-three,
Which pickled her internal workin's.

And as we sat there till three,
It was just as I feared it would be.
The rumblings abdominal,
Became quite phenomenal,
And everyone stared so at me.

Laziness Overworked

A farmer did his spring plowing
With an ox and a mule. Their teaming was excellent until one day the ox decided to perpetrate pernicious torpidity and stall off in his stall as a sick bovine. The kindly farmer noticed the languid condition of the ox and before leaving the barn with the mule to plow, thoughtfully, freshened the bedding and rationed the ox with hay, corn and bran. All day long the ox lay blinking his eyes, swishing his tail and chewing his cud.

In the evening when the mule returned from the field, the ox questioned him, how he and the farmer fared. The mule replied: "We got along all right but it was a heap harder doing it all alone." The ox was pleased the plowing could be done without his aid, for after all, it was swell resting and eating, and so he put up a bluff for two more days and always the kindly farmer, grubbed him with hay, corn and bran, and all day long the ox lay blinking his eyes, swishing his tail, and chewing his cud.

In the evening of the third day when the mule was retired, the ox further interrogated his companion.
"Well, how did you get along today?"
"We got along the same as usual, it wasn't so easy going alone and I'm tired," replied the mule. "Did the farmer say anything about me?" "No, he didn't say anything to me about you, but he had a helluva long talk with the butcher on the way home."

P. S.—We wonder sometimes, when knifing some steaks whether they've lost their tender sensibilities through age or laziness. Of course the old adage still holds good. "It's tough to pay 50 cents a pound for steak, but it's tougher at 25."

California Flyers, Inc., School of Aviation flew in with a party last Sunday from the Los Angeles Municipal Airport to Palm Springs. Those making the trip were Dick Relf, Wilshire Sign Company; Myrtle D. Minis, Tommy Ostermaier, instructor; Gene W.
Oehlmann, Harley W. Lamay, Joe Swin-ney, instructor, Newton Bell, Cross Seely, chief pilot, and Bob Jones. The group dined at the Royal Palms and were joined by Mrs. Clema Granger of Palm Springs.

Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Weale of Belmont Shore, Long Beach, were the week-end guest of Miss Helen McEwen.

Last Monday evening, Mrs. M. D.
Traylor, on Baristo Road, entertained
Mr. and Mrs. James Geggie, Mrs. H.
Geggie, Annette and Margaret Traylor,
H. Dorsett and Ralph E. Hall, III. Games and refreshments added to the evening's diversion.

Operatic Star Locates Here

Mme. Rosemary Glosz has leased the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs.
Imre C. Glosz, on Valmonte del Sur, for one month, and will spend a short vacation period at Laguna Beach. Mme.
Glosz is an operatic singer of note,
who has received European training from many of the best teachers of the Old World. She has studied with the famous Lili Lehman of Berlin, Germany, whose studio of training was so well known that the best of artists were drawn to that center of culture.

Seven years ago last July, Mme.
Glosz made her operatic debut at the Opera Comique in Paris, being the last American singer to be engaged by Carre before the close of his long career of over 30 years as manager of the Opera Comique. Carre distinguished himself when Mary Garden was employed as the first American singer engaged by him to sing in his theatre.

Mme. Glosz was the only other operatic star singing with Grace
Moore in the Sextette from Lucia in "One Night of Love." She has also appeared in concert with the Philharmonic Orchestra of Los Angeles, Better known in New York, Mme. Glosz has given 1,000 performances of the "Merry Widow."

She was the wife of the late Judge
Donald C. Ross, who served the city of Milwaukee for many years.

El Mirador Guests Catch Trout For Their Picnic Lunch

For a change from the usual run of picnics El Mirador guests made a trip to the Rainbow Angling Club near Redlands, where, as guests of Warren
Pinney, they caught their own trout lunch. Each guest fished in the bubbling mountain waters at the club until he caught two trout, which were then fried and eaten for lunch on a long table which was covered with other food brought from the hotel.

Among those on the picnic were Mr.
and Mrs. Stanley Barbee of Beverly Hills, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Beatty of Stockton, Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Bonner of San Francisco, Miss Hilda Besserdich, A. B. Weissenborn of Appleton, Wisconsin, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Bacharach of New Orleans, Mr. and
Mrs. Roscoe Keffer and daughter,
Betty, of New York City, Mr. and Mrs.
L. M. Flesch of Piqua, Ohio; Mr. and Mrs. William Haze, Beverly Hills, Mr. and Mrs. A. S. Henry and Miss Virginia Smith of Greenwich, Conn.;
Miss Evelyn Patricia McMahon of San Francisco, Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Ralston, Los Angeles, Lowell Stormont,
Paul Ferrel of Indianapolis, T. W. Mc-Farlane of San Francisco, Mr. and Mrs. H. R. Dingwall of Maine, and Mr. and Mrs. James Stradling of Atlantic City, New Jersey.

The largest fish was caught by Mr.
A. B. Weissenborn who, with the assistance of Mr. Dingwall, finally landed the large trout which they had most dexterously played until he was nearly exhausted.

The New Palm Springs Tennis Club To Formally Open Gates February 5th With Exhibition Tennis and Driving

New Club Leased For 5 Years To Phil Ormsby, Les Stoeffen, and Fred Le Blond, Jr.

The beautiful and unique Palm Springs Tennis Club, one of the finest in the West, will officially open its gates for the first time on Saturday, February 5th, it was announced this week by Philip G. Ormsby, Lester R. Stoeffen, and Fred Le Blond, Jr., lessees of the exclusive new club.

Many fine events have been scheduled for the formal opening day; among them being exhibition tennis matches, exhibition diving, and a cocktail party. The feature of the exhibition tennis will be a match between Les Stoeffen, top ranking pro and one of the lessees of the club, and Sidney Wood. There will also be a double match, Stoeffen and Joe Hunt vs. Wood and Jack Tidball. Harold "Dutch" Smith and Mickey Riley, Olympic diving champions, will do exhibition diving to the delight of all lovers of this graceful aquatic sport.

Two weeks later the club will hold its first dinner dance.

The Club is owned by Mr. and Mrs. Austin G. McManus, who conceived the idea for the club and promoted it and who last week leased the club property to Phil Ormsby, Lester Stoeffen and Fred Le Blond, Jr., for a five year period.

Ormsby, the manager of the club, Stoeffen, its tennis pro, and Le Blond, secretary and treasurer of the organization, are well known figures in the village and are very popular with villagers and guests alike.

The courts at the Palm Springs Tennis Club, three in number, are the finest concrete tennis courts in California.

They are chocolate brown in color, the color coming from an acid stain which was applied to the surface. The high wooden board fences that surround the courts on three sides are painted dark green. This color scheme is very easy on the eyes and also makes the white ball easier to see, thus making a faster game possible. The courts are open towards the mountains, there being no board fence on that side. This is an aid to the acoustic qualities of the courts which are marvelous. One can stand in the middle of the enclosure and clap his hands, and the report is like the loud crack of a whip. Good acoustics is one of the essentials of really fine tennis courts.

The setting of this new club is delightful. It nestles in a cove at the foot of the mountains at the west end of Baristo Road. The club is completely inclosed. To the west tower the mountains, acting as a natural barrier. A small ridge extends out from the mountain at the south and joins the fence along the south side of the tennis courts. The east side is all fenced and this fence also runs along the north side of the tennis courts to the point where it joins the long narrow building that fills the gap between the mountain and the fence on that side.

The new club occupies five acres of choice land below and to the south of the A. G. McManus hillside residence.

The beautiful and spacious swimming pool of odd shape and the tennis courts form the principal sports area of the club. Both the courts and the pool were built by Paddock Engineering, Ltd., of Los Angeles and Palm Springs.

Above them on the hillside Lee Miller has built a stone walk 150 feet long. At one end of this is the handsome club house with its huge lounge, dining room and card room.

Adding to the natural beauty of the club is a small stream from Tahquitz creek which runs through the grounds.

There is adequate locker room, an office and tennis shop by the courts in the long narrow building at the north and one of the courts will be lighted for night playing.

The club represents an investment of approximately $100,000 and has a notable list of members.

The entire designing of the beautiful club was done by the firm of Philip G. Ormsby-Lloyd Steffen, Architects. This concern also designed the Frank T. Sole, Frank Morgan and William Gargan homes.

Philip Ormsby, youthful member of this firm, is the manager of the club

ANNOUNCING..... THE OPENING OF THE NEW Palm Springs Tennis Club Saturday, Feb. 5, 1938

Promising to be one of the village's most popular and exclusive rendezvous, the Palm Springs Tennis Club nestles comfortably against the hills in the enchanting atmosphere of the romantic "Old Palm Springs."

Into the five acres that comprise the new club has been built championship tennis courts (some of the finest in California), a beautiful and unique swimming pool, spacious locker rooms, and a tennis shop. The terraces, club house, cafe and bar, and ramadas are built into the side of the mountain, affording a sweeping view of desert and distant hills.
